Dodd Files $5 Million Libel Suit

Answers Pearson, Anderson Charges

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Thomas J. Dodd has answered columnists Drew Pearson's and Jack Anderson's charges of misconduct by filing a $5 million conspiracy and libel suit against them.

The suit, filed in U.S. District Court late Friday by Dodd's attorney, accuses the columnists of falsely picturing the Connecticut Democrat as unfit to be a senator, as an agent of foreign interests, as interfering with the award of government contracts in return for bribes, and as unlawfully diverting campaign funds for his personal use.

Among other things, Dodd denies in the suit that he had made a trip to West Germany in 1964 to help Chicago public relations man Julius Klein "hang onto his clients," that he had ever made any Senate speeches written for him by Klein, or that he had accepted expensive gifts from Klein or acted as his "errand boy."

At Dodd's request, the charges now are being investigated by the Senate Select Committee on Standards and Conduct, a bipartisan group set up last year to police senatorial ethics. It is commonly known as the Senate Ethics Committee.

The committee announced last week it would hold public hearings on Dodd's relationship with Klein, who is a registered agent for West German industrial interests.

No date has been set for the hearings, but Dodd told newsmen Friday the sooner they are held, the better. The committee has said it wanted to give him "sufficient time to prepare his defense."

In a statement released by his office, Pearson said he welcomed the suit because it "gives us an opportunity which we have never had before, that of subpoenaing records.

"If the Senate Ethics Committee fails to do a thorough job," the Pearson statement said, "I (Continued on Page 11, Col. 8)

Move Huge 4-State Pollution Curb Plans to Drafting Board

TRENTON, N.J. (AP)—A mammoth four-state water pollution control program with cost estimates ranging from $100 million to $700 million was on mission's drawing board today.

The governors of New Jersey, the Delaware River Basin Com- New York, Pennsylvanaa and Delaware and Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall, commission members, signed a resolution Friday calling for speedy implementation of the plan.

Need Big Chunk

Delaware Gov. Charles L. Terry Jr., who took over as chairman of the interstate compact, said he planned to sound out President Johnson in the "next month or so" about getting a huge dose of federal aid.

He said the commission had its eye on proposed federal legislation which would pour large amounts of money into water pollution demonstration projects under the auspices of agencies such as the commission.

Although no date has been set for putting the commission's program into effect, Terry said "it must be done quickly."

The commission was created in 1961 for the purpose of developing and managing water resources over a 12,750 square-mile area inhabited by more than 21 million persons.

Stresses Cleanup

Its over-all comprehensive plan calls for cleaning up the waters in the Delaware Basin, but the commission's action Friday put the project into the concrete planning stage.

Terry and James F. Wright, executive director of the commission, estimated the costs between $100 and $700 million.

The first phase of the project calls for preparation of a program and a budget for cleaning up the Delaware River and its tributaries. Over the past five years, the U.S. Public Health Service and the Federal Water Pollution Control Administration have been engaged in a study of pollution conditions in the river. Wright said a final report, with cost estimates, was expected to be ready by June.

The second phase sets a Sept. 1 deadline for preparation of a study and budget for a program to alleviate pollution in major areas within the basin and to combat pollution in areas now threatened.

And by June, 1967, the commission intends to submit to the Federal Water Pollution Control Administration a set of water quality standards in line with the mandate of the Water Quality Act of 1965. That law allows the federal government to set the standards if the states do not act.

At a news conference after the commission's annual meeting, the governors and Udall were asked whether industry made up the major source of pollution in the basin.

Udall and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York said there were too many variables involved to fix the bulk of the blame on industry. Terry said, however, that industrial wastes were chiefly responsible for a dangerously high acid content in the Delaware River and Bay.

To Provide 3 Per Cent U.S. Loans

Hardship Cases May Ask Grants

Kingston's Urban Renewal Agency today announced that the property rehabilitation phase of the Broadway East urban renewal program has begun.

Some 125 houses in the area between Murray Street, Hasbrouck and Delaware Avenue, under the program, are due to be brought up to standards of the Broadway East UR plan.

To Conserve Homes

Eric Hemphill, executive director of the agency, said "the purpose of this work is to conserve homes in the area that are basically good but in need of repair."

He indicated that a survey of each property in the area would be obtained to note repairs and changes needed, if any, to bring the property in conformity with the Broadway East Urban Renewal Plan and City code standards.

A list of needed repairs will be given to each property owner and agency staff personnel will work with property owners to assist them in obtaining loans or in working out financial arrangements for the costs of the rehabilitation work. In addition, agency staff will assist where needed in helping the owner in his dealings with a contractor and in seeing that the work is properly completed.

Hemphill said that there are a number of properties in the rehabilitation area which are to be acquired and demolished by urban renewal. He added that the removal of these properties, which are "dilapidated, unsightly" and not feasible for rehabilitation will greatly enhance the looks of the neighborhood "particularly from an adjoining owner's point of view." He also said that other properties, after closer inspection, might have to be acquired and demolished if it is determined they are not economically suitable for reheabilitation.

To Plant Trees

"The Urban Renewal Agency will be planting street trees, building certain new streets and sidewalks, installing new sewers and making other improvements as part of the urban renewal program," Hemphill said. Also, certain lots and land areas will be left open as small parks or "sitting areas" and some off-street parking space will be created.

The agency can also make direct federal loans to property owners who will use the money to rehabilitate their properties. The terms of the loans and the 3 per cent interest rate are considered attractive and designed specifically for families who desire to improve their properties but need financial help in order to do so.

Equally important, Hemphill said, is a rehabilitation grant program. "Under this program, the agency can give a grant of up to $1,500 to certain eligible families, again provided the money is spent to improve the property. The grant is "just that," Hemphill said, a "gift" which is not repayable. He indicated that loan funds were ample and are expected to be used extensively but that the grant program would be limited to qualified needy families and hardship cases.

At the present time, the federal government has appropriated only $100,000 for the seven-state Region 1 area and at this time, the agency doesn't know the extent to which grant funds will be available for Kingston's Broadway East Project.

He said that both the loan and the grant programs for re- (Continued on Page 9, Col. 1)

Area Car Crashes Hurt Twelve, One Seriously

A 20-year-old New Paltz youth was seriously injured early today when his car went out of control and crashed into a large tree off Route 213 northeast of Route 32, Town of Esopus.

State Police Sergeant William Cameron of Highland said Theodore Stroter, RD 2, Box 101, New Paltz, suffered mufltiple severe lacerations of the face, fractured jaw, back injuries and a fractured skull.

Stroter was taken by Kingston Hospital by Doctor's Ambulance. His condition was listed as serious.

Car Rams Into Treee

According to troopers, Stroter apparently hit the tree at about 4 a. m. but was not discovered until after 5 a. m. when a passing motorist saw the wrecked vehicle and found Stroter in the back seat.

An ambulance attendant said the force of the impact pushed the motor back on the front seat and hurled the driver to the rear seat.

Area fire companies and several state troopers were at the scene of the crash.

Five persons were injured and a driver was cited for a traffic violation in accidents investigated today and Friday by State Police from the Lake Katrine substation.

Was Forced Off Road

Troopers said that Bruce Benjamin, 21, of Springtown Road, New Paltz, suffered forehead cuts in a one-car mishap about 3 a. m. today on Route 32 at the Creek Locks Road in the Town of Rosendale, about 4 miles south of Kingston. They said that Benjamin said he was driving south on Route 32 when his car was forced off the road by an unidentified oncoming car, causing his vehicle to strike a stone wall.

Troopers Al Broers and Richard Dempsey investigated.

Three Men Admit Gambling Charge, $500 Fines Paid

Three of four men arrested in a Catskill area gambling raid Friday including a Kingston man, were fined a total of $500 upon pleas of guilty later at their arraignment before Greene County peace and police justices.

The fourth man was free in bail to wait grand jury action.

Major Directs Raid

The four were arrested in a raid led by State Police Major Arthur E. Wright, commander of Troop G and troopers from the Leeds substation.

State Police identified the four as:

Guerino Ruzzo, 66, who gave 38 Bridge Street, Catskill as his address; William Delanoy, 66, of Summit Avenue, Catskill; Salvatore Giordano, 38, of Cementon, and Michael Mulick, 41, of Star Route, Leeds. State Police at the Leeds substation told The Freeman that although Ruzzo gave the Catskill address as his residence, it was established that he maintained an address at 670 Broadway in Kingston.

Ruzzo on Probation

Ruzzo was fined $50 each on counts of maintaining an establishment for gambling and for possession of policy slips. He admitted the charges at his appearance before Police Court Justice John Morrison of Catskill, who also placed Ruzzo on six months probation.

Delanoy also was fined $50 each on two counts of possession of policy slips when he admitted the charges before Justice Morrison.

Giordano posted $100 bail pending grand jury action when he waived preliminary examination before Peace Justice George Carl, Town of Catskill, on charges of possession of a policy slip.

American Forces Annihilate Entire Communist Battalion

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The U.S. Command claimed today the annihilation of a reinforced Communist battalion in two days of savage fighting in central Viet Nam.

A military spokesman said there was "precious little left" of more than 400 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops encountered 10 miles north of Bong Son and 280 miles northeast of Saigon in Operation Davy Crockett. The fighting has taken place near the coast along the South China Sea.

Killed 332

The spokesman said troops of the helicopter-lifted 1st Cavalry, (Airmobile) Division killed 332 enemy soldiers Thursday and Friday.

A South Vietnamese spokesman reported that Vietnamese paratroopers and reconnaissance units who supported the American action killed 84 more. This raised the total enemy dead to 416.

The heavy ground fighting, the biggest action in three weeks, dominated a day in which there were also these developments:

1. Prime Minister Nguyen Cao Ky declared he would retain his post at the head of the South Vietnamese government for at least another year. He thereby possibly touched off new political unrest from power-seeking Buddhists because of his earlier promise to step down after the national elections scheduled by September.

Wreck 2 Spans

2. The U.S. Air Force, in a delayed report, said its fighter-bombers had wrecked two spans of the vital Bac Giang railroad and highway bridge 25 miles northeast of Hanoi. The bridge is a key link in the rail and road system from the North Vietnamese capital to Communist China.

3. Air Force B52 bombers again bombed a suspected Viet Cong troop concentration near the Cambodian border, 75 miles northeast of Saigon. It was the seventh day in a row that the giant bombers returned to the Viet Cong stronghold, to support U.S. 1st Infantry Division troops.

In additional to more than 400 killed in Operation Davy Crockett, the military spokesman reported the capture of 40 Communists and 515 suspects.

He said that there had been no significant contact with the enemy since midnight, indicating that the remnants of the Communist force had fled.

The spokesman said 12 U.S. air sorties were flown in support of the action and credited pilots (Continued on Page 5, Col. 4)

Car Industry Promises Closer Defect Checks

DETROIT (AP) — The U. S. auto industry promised to do better after disclosing Friday that shortcomings, ranging from major fire hazards to misplaced ash tray lights, had been found in thousands of cars since 1960.

General Motors, Ford, Chrysler and American Motors submitted detailed reports to a House committee indicating that one out of every five cars built in the past six years had been involved in a check of possible defects.

Was Startled

Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., head of a subcommittee probing auto safety, said he was "startled and surprised by the size of the percentages" but added that the American car still is "the safest on the road."

Ribicoff told a news conference he was confident labor and management could work out better quality control on assembly lines before cars get to dealers' hands.

Sen. Ribicoff had asked the four auto firms to supply his committee with a list of "product defects and deficiencies found in the 47 million cars built since 1960."

He said of the company reports:

"In the last six years, 8,700,-225 cars have been involved in so-called recall campaigns. Thus, in six years, 18.5 per cent of the cars have been defective in some respects. It should be clear that many of the defects were not safety related."

James M. Roche, GM president, said in a covering letter to Ribicoff:

"We realize it is not possible to assure that every car off the production line is a perfect vehicle. We now manufacture passenger cars which average 14,-000 parts each, and it is hardly surprising under these circumstances that imperfections crop up. Defects do occur."

Arjay R. Miller, president of Ford Motor Co., said in a similar letter to Ribicoff:

"Many of the campaigns in this report involved modifications intended to maintain or improve customer satisfaction. They had nothing to do with safety. They were made to correct problems such as water or dust leaks, wind noise, vibrations, loose ornaments, missing ash tray lights and malfunctioning clock cables."

Sales Are Ahead

Ribicoff said Roche telephoned him at his Washington office Friday to report that GM's 1966 model auto sales were running ahead of the 1965 model. He quoted Roche as saying that the auto safety talks were not responsible for an April drop in sales or for limited (Continued on Page 5, Col. 1)

Premier Ky Says Elections to Be Delayed Until '67

CAN THO, South Viet Nam (AP) — Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, who has promised early elections in South Viet Nam, said today his military government will stay in power at least another year. It will take that long to elect a civilian government, he told newsmen.

Ky also said that if the government eventually emerging from the elections is neutralist or Communist, "I and my friends will fight it."

But he added, "I am sure the majority of Vietnamese are anti-Communist. I am sure no such government will be elected."

The premier made the statements at a news conference at nearby Binh Tuy airbase which was turned over to Vietnamese authorities by the United States today.

"I expect to stay in power for at least another year — perhaps until the middle of next year," he said. "There is no doubt about that."

The election, expected to be held some time between Sept. 15 and Oct. 1, will choose an assembly charged with drafting the nation's constitution, Ky said. Once the constitution has been drafted, another vote will (Continued on Page 5, Col. 3)

Outline Manpower Agency Operation in Local Area

By Hugh D. Reynolds
Freeman Staff Writer

That famous quote from the United States Constitution that "all men are created equal" may be open to argument but the idea that all men should have an equal opportunity to realize their full potential has long been advocated in this country.

Toward this end, the Federal Government passed the Manpower Development Act in 1962 setting up schools across the country to give unskilled people a chance to learn a trade.

One such school is located in Kingston at Public School Number 4 at the corner of Lindsley and Delaware Avenues. It is a stenographic school supervised by Loryne Connick, head of the business department at Kingston High School. Mrs. Suzanne Rook is the instructor.

The school is well equipped with 27 new electric IBM typewriters valued at about $650 each, a rotary calculator, two 10-key calculators, two 10-key adding machines, a mimeograph machine, a ditto machine, a projector, record player and listening stations at every desk for taking dictation.

SEE ELECTION DELAY—South Vietnamese Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, left, confers with Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S. Forces in Viet Nam on arrangements for national elections. At that time Ky signed a document giving the 32-man election committee official status. After these discussions a change in the election timetable was apparent as Ky said the military government will stay in power at least another year. (NEA Radio-Telephoto)

Paltz Work Noted in SUNY's Contracts Over $67 Million

Contracts totaling more than $67 million have been awarded for construction of academic buildings and support facilities on 15 campuses of the State University of New York since January 1, Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller announced today.

The projects include major construction at the State University College at New Paltz in Ulster County.

"At the end of 1965, work had been completed on 182 projects valued at $232 million, with construction under way or with contracts in the process of being awarded for 201 projects having an estimated value of $372 million," Gov. Rockefeller declared. "In addition, at that time, some 167 projects having an estimated value of $254 million were then under design.

"Student enrollment in the State University in November 1965 was 107,701. By 1970, it is anticipated that more than 160,-000 full-time students will be enrolled within the State University of New York system."

To meet the expanded physical needs of the State University, a $1.349 billion physical development program was initiated in 1962. Directing this program is the State University Construction Fund, the public benefit corporation established by the 1962 Legislature upon the recommendation of Gov. Rockefeller to expedite the construction of facilities to meet the State University's Master Plan requirements.

"Since January 1," Gov. Rockefeller said, "some $34 million in contracts has been awarded for construction of academic facilities at the Colleges (Continued on Page 5, Col. 4)

In conjunction with the observance of National Hospital Week, the co-administrators made the following statement:

"The Benedictine Hospital during Hospital Week recognizes that it is one institution among thousands preparing for a new alliance for health, the government-financed hospital and medical care program for the aged known as Medicare. A program as large and as complex as Medicare is bound to have some problems, but it is not going to change the day-to-day operation of the hospital.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

Any man's death diminishes me
Because I am involved in mankind.

John Donne, 1624

Dr. James W. Turpin lives by these words for, as founder and president of Project Concern, a nonprofit international medical relief organization, he has dedicated his life to mankind.

Born in Ashland, Ky., Jim learned Christian living early in life as he accompanied his grandfather, a doctor, on his visits to his patients in the surrounding hills. After studying theology for a year, he switched to medicine. Today, like his grandfather, he is visiting his patients in the hills, but they are the hill people of South Viet Nam instead of Kentucky. Project Concern has the only rural hospital in South Viet Nam.

Project Concern was incorporated in November, 1961, in California, and by September, 1962, had established three outpatient clinics in Hong Kong. Dr. Turpin moved into South Viet Nam in June, 1964. He has a staff of a hundred doctors, dentists, nurses and technicians, representing 20 countries and every major religion in the world.

By his side, physically when possible and always spiritually, is his wife Molly. She is entering Women's Medical College in Philadelphia in September, "so that we can work together."

Back in the United States to receive the Freedom Leadership Medal from the Freedom Foundation at Valley Forge, Pa., Dr. Turpin said of Viet Nam, "We can win the war but iose the people."

It is hoped that the sessions will clarify the sense of purpose of the American Baptist Convention, as well as deepen its commitment to its mission.

The program committee, chaired by the Rev. Robert G. Middleton, pastor of Union Church of Hyde Park, Chicago, Ill., has selected the theme, Be Disciples. Make Disciples. The convention scripture is from Matthew 28:18-20. The convention hymn is Eternal God, Whose Power Upholds.

Churchgoing Thieves Take Ancient English Treasures

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP) — In England too many thieves are going to church. The trouble is they're going for material gain, not spiritual.

Within the last 12 months 1,500 churches have been robbed. Some of them have been ransacked and pillaged. Church thefts include 200 pairs of candlesticks, most of them old and highly valuable.

Sometimes the thieves — the petty ones — just raid the poor boxes. In other cases, chalices worth $14,000 have been stolen.

Lead is a favorite loot. Great chunks of it have been ripped from roofs. In the black market, lead brings fancy prices. One church lost its gate. Another's bells were stolen.

Nothing is sacred. The altars, with their beautiful crosses, some centuries old, are often targets. The favorites are Anglican and Roman Catholic churches, for they are older and their trappings more ornate.

Many small parish churches in England possess treasures that would cost thousands of dollars to replace. Yet the doors are nearly always open. Those in charge of the churches do not want to hide their treasures. They want the members of the congregation to see them and enjoy them. Yet, this is getting very costly.

Churches near main roads are vandalized more than those on country lanes. Police say the thieves prefer the churches near the highways because they can make a quick getaway.

Many churches have vergers and these keep watch, but they cannot be on duty around the clock. Even the cathedrals, with large staffs, are being burglarized. A silver wafer box used for communion was stolen from St. Paul's in the very heart of London. The box was valued at $280.

Insurance companies have warned the churches to be more careful of their treasures.

Said a spokesman for the ecclestiastical insurance office which insures most of the nation's 20,000 Anglican churches and others:

"We have no definite proof, but organized gangs may be behind some of the thefts. They may be sending the loot abroad and selling it there. There's a certain amount of educated thievery going on."

Certain churches possess almost priceless antiques. As an antique, a rare Elizabethan chalice is priceless. Melted down it might be worth $5,000.

Some members of the clergy say it is wasteful to keep very expensive objects in the churches. One vicar suggested that the more expensive objects be sold and the money used for upkeep of church buildings.

Unitarians Name Guest Speaker; Service Sunday

The Rev. Ralph Cooper Bailey will be the guest speaker at the Unitarian Fellowship of Ulster County this Sunday. The Rev. Mr. Bailey, who is the minister of the First Unitarian-Universalist Church of Danbury, Conn., will have as his subject, Unitarian-Universalism—A Real Alternative.

In this talk, the Rev. Mr. Bailey will explore the role of Unitarianism in modern society. He will show how Unitarian-Universalism may be the answer to many people faced with the choice between orthodoxy on one hand, and rejection of any religious affiliation on the other.

The Rev. Mr. Bailey came to Danbury, after seven years as minister of the Unitarian Church in Hollis, Queens. During his stay in Hollis, he was the chairman, Planned Parenthood Committee of Queens (1962-64); member board of directors, Queens Advisory Committee of the Urban League of Greater New York, (1962-65).

He is currently board member of the Mid-Western Connecticut Mental Health Association. He is also president of the New York Metropolitan District Unitarian-Universalist Ministers Association.

The Unitarian Fellowship of Ulster County is on Neighborhood Road and Lohmair Lane in Lake Katrine. The program starts at 10:30 a. m. and the public may attend.

HOW MOM'S CHANGED!

Almost a century has passed since Julia Ward Howe first suggested setting aside a day to honor mothers. During that time Mother's Day has developed into an American institution, and the nation has moved from horse and buggy to space capsule.

Perhaps nothing has changed more, during that century, than Mother herself. In 1871, a year before Mrs. Howe made her proposal, James Whistler painted his classic picture of his mother. With her lace cap, feet primly together on a footstool, hands folded in her lap, the lady of the portrait has become a symbol of old-fashioned motherhood. Today, Mom is different.

In her bouffant hairdo and stretch slacks, she is a far cry from the close-to-the-hearth woman of 100 years ago. In 1966, Mother is a doer. She paints the house, water skis, chauffers the family, campaigns for civil rights, works in the League of Women Voters. After her children are in school she meets the challenge of more leisure time in a variety of creative and constructive ways.

What make her still worthy of recognition of "her" day, is the fact that she can do all this and yet have the time and the touch to soothe a fevered brow, wipe a child's tears away or whip up a formal on the sewing machine. She can express herself and still keep in mind what is important in her relationship with her family. It's a good juggling act, and Mom does it well. We salute her.

NATIONAL HOSPITAL WEEK

The observance of National Hospital Week is always of deep interest to the people of a community, but this year there is special significance for Ulster County residents.

The Kingston Hospital recently completed an expansion program to provide 60 additional medical and surgical and 12 pediatric beds; the new $2 million Ellenville Community Hospital opened in March; the Benedictine Hospital on Monday will break ground for its new $2.6 million wing.

These hospital expansion programs are required in order to provide the maximum in health protection for the residents of this area. But the hospitals could not provied care for those who need it, if it did not have the generous support of the people it serves. Thus the major responsibility of the community toward its hospitals is the continuing interest in and support of their programs.

Our hospitals have long histories of service whose benefits are shared alike by those of all creeds and races. It is for all members of the community that these benefits exist.

Now there is a new Alliance for Health taking shape to provide the nation's elder citizens longer years, happier years, fuller years. A part of this new alliance is popularly called Medicare, a new way of financing costly health care. Another part of the alliance is the nation's hospital system—the providers of the finest care in the world. This program is designed that all our aged citizens will be able to receive the marvelous care developed in this country since the close of World War 11.

This Alliance for Health also removes a burden from the shoulders of today's younger generation. As President Johnson said in signing the new law: "No longer will young families see their incomes and their hopes eaten away simply because they are carrying out their deep moral obligations."

Perhaps more than ever before during this week we should take pause for a moment and wish our hospitals success in their new venture under Medicare. Perhaps the most complex legislation of our time, it is the nation's hospitals not the Federal government that now are being called upon to make Medicare another part of the continually growing American dream—a longer, happier, fuller life.

We hope all will join in saluting our hospitals this week and in giving them your wholehearted support all the year.

Global View

By LEON DENNEN
Foreign News Analyst
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Not many diplomats see the conflict in Southeast Asia more realisticly than Vu Van Thai, Saigon's ambassador to the United States. Few, indeed, have a better understanding of the true nature of communism.

Well-known for his pro-democratic views, 47-year-old Thai was never identified with any political group in his country. But during World War II, he and his father, the distinguished Vietnamese nationalist Vu Van An, collaborated with Ho Chi Minh to liberate their country from French colonial rule.

Though long an agent of the Communist International, Ho Chi Minh persistently denied in those days that he was a Soviet agent and that his aim was to establish a Red dictatorship in Viet Nam. Like Mao Tse-tung and Fidel Castro, he originally appeared on Southeast Asia's political scene as a nationalist and agrarian reformer.

However, it did not take long for Vu Van Thai to realize that Ho Chi Minh's nationalism was but a fraudulent front—that he was a Communist first and a nationalist when it suited his purposes.

After the Communists murdered his father, young Thai abandoned a promising career as an engineer and economist to serve his nation in time of need. For more than two decades he has devoted himself to bringing peace to his strife-torn people and to the creation of an independent and democratic Viet Nam.

Ambassador Thai is no stranger to discouragement and frustration. Yet he is convinced that a non-Communist revolution to bring Viet Nam a solid sense of national cohesion and respect for human dignity can be achieved. This despite the pressures and ravages of war and a decade of Communist subversion and terrorism.

He sees the political unrest in Viet Nam as the inevitable birth pangs of democracy in a nation that never enjoyed real freedom.

"We are aware that our war against communism is in essence a war against hunger and destitution, and that our final goal is to achieve civilized materal and social conditions," Ambassador Thai said.

"When all the nations in Southeast Asia will have joined forces for the eradication of want and misery the specter of war will vanish."

But want and misery cannot be eradicated under conditions of Communist slavery. The Vietnamese of this generation and of generations to come must first secure the right to choose, in conformance with democratic rule, the institutions of their liking.

"They must not be condemned forever to one type of government as in the case of North Viet Nam and other Communist countries."

Ambassador Thai believes that, despite reports by foreign journalists that South Viet Nam is falling apart, the tide of history is now in favor of pro-democratic Vietnamese.

In his view, the morale of the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops is dwindling. "The Communists can no longer expect to take over South Viet Nam by military victory," he said.

Ambassador Thai by no means underestmates the obstacles that must still be surmounted before the Communists are completely defeated. He frankly concedes that South Viet Nam might have gone under without American military and economic aid. But he also stresses the fundamental vitality of his people and their will to survive as a free nation.

Better Anesthesia Makes Painless Dentistry Possible

By WILLIAM LAWRENCE, D.D.S.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

"Sorry. I don't mean to be a baby, but I hate needles. When I was a child I had to have poison ivy shots and the doctor had to chase me all over the office. I've always hated needles. My mother hates needles."

This story is like a broken record and dentists hear it all the time. The very idea of getting stuck with a needle sends some people into a tizzy. Most often this fear is related to a childhood eperience or family trait.

Years ago there may have been some basis for fear of injections. Needles were long and thick and when they were clamped into one of those big, shiny, steel syringes the combination looked like a weapon.

In those days a needle was used many times and after each boiling the tip got duller and duller. This, combined with a burr at the tip caused by the sometimes careless handling during sterilization caused one dentist to say about these needles, "They went in like dum-dum bullets and came out like fishhooks."

But things have changed. Most dentists used disposable needles—one shot and into the waste basket. These needles are shorter and thinner and sharper. Techniques are better, too, and injection areas can be painted with topical "novocaine" which helps deaden the initial prick of the needle.

Anesthetics have been improved, too. They are more potent and less toxic; freezing can be accomplished with minimal amount of solution and little or no side reactions. There are very few patients who are truly allergic to the new solutions.

Freezing the jaw can be effected by either block anesthesia or infiltration anesthesia. In lower jaws one whole side of the jaw is usually blocked off with one injection and almost any dental procedure, fillings, extractions or removal of nerves, can be performed without pain.

In upper jaws the solution is injected into the gums directly over the tip of the root and is rapidly absorbed into the gums and bone, and into the tooth. Sometimes both types of shots are needed.

For most dental work, anesthesia is a blessing for patient and dentist, and in some special procedures it is impossible to do quality dentistry without it.

THE GOP'S IMAGE

Finding fault with the Republican party seems to be a favorite indoor sport these days, even—and perhaps "notably" might be the better word—among Republicans. This is not a bad thing for the GOP. Out of analysis may come the revitalizing badly needed after the 1964 debacle.

One of the more interesting comments comes from Dr. George H. Gallup, the public opinion man. He notes that at the close of World War II England's Conservative party had problems much like those of the GOP at present, and markedly changed its status by going after votes in a business-like way instead of using the same old tired political formulas. Gallup thinks the Republican party must "work out a program of action to inform the public and dispel or change its present image." It is advice the party leadership would do well to ponder, and act on with imagination and vigor.

The Russians are worried about the effects of Western radio. Over here there's more worry about the effects of TV Westerns.

Washington News

Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — North and South, restless Negroes are trying to break past the barrier of tokenism in the desegregation of schools, jobs and housing. New checks, made here and in the field, reveal no startling new gains.

A civil rights spokesman in the capital says impatience with the small measure of progress is still rising.

In some parts of the country, the Negroes' mood is almost "antipolitician," so disenchanted are they with hearty promises given but largely unfulfilled.

The time has gone when either leaders or rank and file are impressed by appointments of Negroes to high-level federal or other government positions. These symbolic gestures are today taken for granted as overdue and indicative of nothing broadly substantial.

What they dwell upon are such facts as that 90 per cent of all U. S. children still are in totally segregated schools, that housing is still a shack-and-shanty existence for millions of Negroes, that good jobs are scarce.

THERE IS CHANGE, of course. In a state like Alabama, Negroes are turning up on civic boards, the Chamber of Commerce, the medical society. They have jobs in factories, stores, hospitals, even the police force.

One southern white moderate, a businessman, nevertheless argues that too much of this is mere token compliance with new law and the changing times. Says he:

"They put them out in the showcase reception room so people will say: Well I see they've integrated.' But often it's a case of one in 500 employes."

The designation pace has been admittedly slow, even though a good many southern businessmen say: "We are agreeably surprised how well it has worked out." Newly hired Negroes have done their jobs capably, have fitted in, have been largely accepted by white fellow workers.

SOME WHITE SOUTHERN moderates whose credentials with the Negro community are good do insist, all the same, that tokenism is really not a bad state of affairs at this point in the racial struggle. Says one:

"It's the best medicine we in the Deep South can have— the exposure to tokenism. It gives us a chance to overcome severely segregationist attitudes. If the gains were massive, hostility would be very great."

Plenty of additional desegregation is scheduled in the years just ahead, this man argues. As it takes place, he suggests, attitudes will slowly change for the better.

Not many northern Negro leaders would agree, but some in the South would. More than a few are said to resent the pressures for speed applied here and there by Dr. Martin Luther King. One soource says of these southern leaders:

"They are quite capable of changing things as fast as King or any other human being can do it."

BUT MILITANCY and growing impatience still govern the Negroes' mood in many places, North and South. Birmingham leaders are pushing against a big steel company for more jobs.

Many southern Negroes are responding eagerly to leader efforts to train them both for voting and for candidate participation, so they can exert greater weight on the job-school-housing front.

In some circles, even in the South, it is fashionable to say, in comment on the urge in many Negroes for quickness on this front: "Today's radical is tomorrow's Uncle Tom."

Tokenism in desegregation may or may not have merit as a contribution to changing white attitudes. Yet to many observers it seems a barrier too frail to hold out for very long against the rising presures of the unsettled Negro minority.

Closing in on Cancer

All Health Is One Says Cancer Society's Doctor

BY ROBERT COCHNAR
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
(Last in a Series)

NEW YORK, (NEA)—"In a fundamental sense," says the American Cancer Society's Dr. E. Cuyler Hammond, "all health is one nowadays.

"The battle against cancer inevitably involves fresh insights into what it takes to live and be healthy in a shrinking and increasingly complex world."

The massive study of one million Americans, now in its sixth year, supports Hammond's statement. For although it is essentially interested in limiting cancer, it is collecting information which will aid researchers attacking other major diseases.

Here are a few of the questions the study may eventually answer:

Are children born to older women more suscepible to cancer? Does drinking hot beverages increase susceptibility, as has been suggested by a Japanese medical study? Do fried foods contain cancer-causing chemicals produced by heating oils to a burning point?

Does being overweight contribute to increased illness generally and to cancer in particular?

Is there any relation between failure to breast-feed a child and the occurrence of breast cancer in the mother, or in the length of time spent in nursing? Is air pollution related to cancer?

Past research has shown a definite increase of cancer of the colon in people in urban communities as compared with those in rural places. Why? There is a higher cancer rate in people in the northern part of the United States than in the southern states. Why?

"The obvious answers lie in identifiable factors which our study is set up to spot," says Hammond, who is chief of the ACS statistical branch and originator of the study. "We will not even have to find the underlying reason for a connection between some environmental factor and cancer. It is enough for us to know that the relationship exists, so that we can warn these 'high risk' poeple."

At the Fourth Annual Cancer Conference in 1961, the first analysis of the study was reported to scientists. Only 15 per cent of the subjects who reported "cancer danger signals" on their questionnaires had seen a doctor about them.

Educational levels, from grammar school or less to college graduates, made little difference in recognizing and reporting the signals, although college graduates were more likely to see a doctor.

As expected, it was reported that certain of the danger signals had a high relationship to subsequent deaths of the participants from different forms of cancer. The analysis also showed that certain other physical complaints ,such as loss of appetite, shortness of breath and a tendency to tire easily, were related to cancer death statistics.

Other findings were similarly useful. Statistics unequivocably linking deaths from lung cancer with cigarette smoking played an important part in the Surgeon General's report of December 1963 on smoking and health.

Questions on sleep habits brought provocative information for epidemiologists. The study showed differences in death rates ranging from as low as 626 for seven-hour sleepers to a high of 2,029 for people getting less than five hours a night.

Men enrolled in the study were asked "how much exercise do you get?" Death rates were higher for men who checked "none" than for those reporting "moderate" or "heavy."

Participants reporting the use of antiacid medicines and laxatives did not have a higher death rate than nonusers. But deaths from those taking tranquilizers were "considerably higher" in number than among abstainers.

Analysis of death rates of Californians living in heavy smog areas produced no evidence that air pollution there poses a serious health threat. The men who dide from cancer were almost identical in number with Californians who lived in clearer air.

Recently Dr. Hammond reported that the latest analysis of the study statistics showed that death rates from cancer, coronary heart disease and stroke were all found to be slightly lower among persons who received polio vaccine than among those who did not receive it.

Slowly and, perhaps inevitably, the clues are piling up. From the mass of information being assembled, physicians and researchers in cancer will be guided to new areas in their effort to trap cancer and find its cause.

"We have hardly scratched the surface," Dr. Hammond says, "as far as a full analysis of the data is concerned. That could take another decade, or another generation."

Action Requested On Houses, Autos For Saugerties

Members of Quarryville Civic Association made a strong plea that Saugerties Town Board take some action on junked and abandoned cars and deserted houses in the community at Thursday night's regular Board meeting.

Three members of the group attended and with Gerald Ovetbaugh as spokesman asked officials to take some action in eliminating the unsightly vista of old automobiles and unoccupied residences which are allowed to deteriorate.

The Board took the position that the town now has an ordinance governing junked cars but said it might consider adopting a new state ordinance, which would not eliminate the problem entirely but would force their licensing under state regulations.

On the matter of abandoned houses which are not cared for, Board members pointed out that these domiciles are privately owned and come under the listing of private property. The town itself could not assume the responsibility of cleaning up such buildings; could only interfere if the buildings ultimately became fire hazards.

Extend Invitation

The Quarryville group also extended an invitation to the Board to attend Memorial Day ceremonies there when a plaque will be dedicated at 11:30 a. m.

Noting that several fire hydrants in the Glasco Water District must be moved or repaired due to the fact that county road work there left some of these in a ditch, the Board awarded a contract to Anthony Costanzi to do the necessary work required in moving the hydrants back to their original positions and making repairs. Costanzi will be paid $900 for this work, including the cost of labor and materials.

Glasco Fire Company has advised the board that the privately owned Ebel property across from the firehouse is now available to the town. The land, a pointed trianguler parcel, has been blocked off in the past and company trucks had difficulty in turning here in previous years. If the property is turned over to the town, fire company officials feel it could be restricted to make turning easier. The board agrees and, as soon as the necessary papers have been drawn up, the land will be gifted to the town.

To Blacktop Lot

The board has also announced that it will blacktop the remaining portion of the parking lot adjacent to the town building. The lot is jointly owned by the town and the bank, which has already blacktopped its share. John Mayone Jr. has been given the town contract for this work.

Commenting on a letter received from Mrs. Chester Glunt, inquiring on the status of Saugerties' famed, old lighthouse, board members noted that the town has not as yet taken over the lighthouse. Eventually, it is hoped, either the town or the village will assume responsibility for the landmark, or gain joint control.

Car Industry . . .

production cutbacks in four GM assembly plants this week.

A capsule summary of the four auto firm's reports to Sen. Ribicoff showed:

GENERAL MOTORS

In seven model years, GM has had 171 recall campaigns which involved 4.8 million of the 23 million cars it built in that period. Many of the items were minor, but the list included such things as a potential fire hazard from a carburetor adjustment in the 1966 Oldsmobile. Some 1.8 million 1964 and 1965 Chevrolet division cars were called back for correction of a splash shield problem, but only 159,000 of the car owners have had the work done as yet, GM said.

FORD

Ford listed 184 recall campaigns, the biggest being the 257,000 Fords, Falcons, Fairlanes, Comets and Meteors recalled in 1963 because of an air cleaner problem. Ford said its list of callback items included some cases of defective brakes, pop-up hoods, tires or ignition that could cause safety problems. Sen. Ribicoff noted that one Ford recall letter sent out in July 1965, urged return of 5,500 Comets for inspection of a potential brake tube abrasion, but he said the Ford letter gave no indication that a safety hazard was involved.

CHRYSLER

Chrysler said it had 24 recall campaigns which involved a checkup on about one million of the 7.5 million cars built since 1960. The firm is involved in one of the most recent callbacks. It started last week a campaign to recall 182,000 of its 1966 Dodge, Coronets and Belvederes because of loose nuts in the front suspension assembly. Sen. Ribicoff said he had asked Chrysler for more data.

AMERICAN MOTORS

AMC said that in 47 recall campaigns since 1960 it had corrected about 92 per cent of the 759,744 cars involved. AMC said that in one of its most recent cases in October 1965, it had telephoned dealers warning of a defect in the steering wheels of 5,970 Ramblers. It said all the cars were located and that the defect was confirmed and corrected in 5,871 cars.

Ribicoff told his news conference: "I have not tried to be inflammatory, but rather have tried to act responsibly." He said he would turn the auto reports over to Secretary of Commerce John Connor for evaluation.

To Clean Water Main

The Kingston Water Department wishes to announce that annual cleaning of the water conduits is scheduled for the week of May 9. This annual cleaning consists of the removal of tuberculation from the lines and is done to assure adequate carrying capacity and pressures of the conduits for peak summer loads. Although proper precautions are always taken, there may be a slight roily quality to the water for a short period during and after completion of the cleaning operations.

Outline . . .

usually runs from October to June. The students are taught shorthand, typing, the running of business machines, office etiquette and various other secretarial skills.

The school is open to all age groups and both sexes and presently has an all-girl class ranging in age from 18 to 49. In addition to the free training the students are given an allowance while in class. A single person living by himself is allowed up to $45 a week in allowances. If the person is from out of the area he is allowed $5 a day for rooming expenses. If a person commutes to the school, his public vehicle fare is paid by the Government.

A married person is given the same allowances as a single person but is given an additional $5 per week for each dependent. A person is allowed to work a maximum of 20 hours while in class.

The cost per student is approximately $1,200. This is in addition to the more than $20,000 in office equipment the school uses.

Must Pass Test

In order to gain admission to the school, the candidate must take an aptitude test at the state unemployment office at 16 Pine Grove Avenue. Russell Brott, an interviewer at the unemployment office, who administers the tests, said there are seldom enough applicants to fill the class.

After graduation, in which the students must pass the state and federal civil service tests in addition to the State Regents test, they return to Brott who tries to place them in the area. Brott said "I know I can place them if they graduate. There is a high demand in the area for trained stenographers."

The course is considered the equivalent of a year's business course in high school but according to Mrs. Rook, who has taught high school business, it is actually three years experience.

Says Mrs. Rook, a stern disciplinarian, who is none-theless well-liked and respected by her students, "It takes brains and determination to complete this course. This is no snap course. A person has to work hard to succeed. Sometimes I'm hard on the students but I want them to get everything possible out of this course, after all, it is the taxpayers' money we're working with."

'Greatest Challenge'

"However," she added, "it is my greatest challenge and most rewarding experience in more than 20 years of working in offices and teaching."

"These people are adults, she said, and they behave that way. I can walk out of that class at any time and know that they will continue working. They realize the opportunity being offered them and, in most cases, take full advantage of it. For some it might be their last chance to learn a trade."

Brott said that once a student graduates there is seldom a problem getting him a job and that they generally hold on to the job once hired. "We do follow-ups on these people, Brott said, and they all seem to be doing well. We haven't had a single graduate return to us."

Brott's opposite number in the Poughkeepsie unemployment office, John M. Wood, agreed that all the graduates of the Poughkeepsie school have done very well.

The starting pay in both Kingston and Poughkeepsie for graduates is about $65 a week in the smaller firms that have been hiring graduates.

Tremendous Idea

On the surface the idea of these training schools would seem, in Wood's words "tremendous." The basic precept is sound: to train people and allow their earning power to further spur the economy instead of being dependent upon it. The schools are stocked with the best possible equipment. People such as Wood, Brott, Mrs. Rook and Connick are highly trained, experienced, dedicated administrators of the program. But yet, it doesn't seem to be going as well as it should.

One might think that people would be beating down the doors of the unemployment office to take advantage of this program. Actually, the converse is true, there is a lack of applicants. In fact, two schools had to be closed in the Kingston area for lack of applicants. There were formerly schools on farm equipment repair and auto body repair. Both of these are constantly offering high paying jobs to trained people.

It would be a mortal blow against the community if these schools, which have such a tremendous potential to help people in the area, were to disappear for lack of applicants.

What is Wrong

But why is there a lack of applicants? Is the personal initiative that built the city, the state and the country beyond our forefathers' wildest dreams gone? Are we to prove the Communists right who label us as "decadent capitalists?"

The problem lies not in the schools or in the administrators of said schools; it lies in the people that these schools are supposed to help; not just the students, but all of us in the community.

These schools should not be allowed to die because of lack of interest or publicity. The school on Delaware Avenue is conducting an open house Friday from 10 to 11 a. m. Your tax dollar is being spent down there and being spent well. It should be well used.

2 More Accused In Drugs Probe

Two more arrests have been made in the U.N.C.L.E. program, it was announced by District Attorney Joseph T. Torraca.

The program, designed to coordinate the activities of Ulster, Orange and Dutchess Counties in defeating the illegal sale and use of narcotics, was instituted at the suggestion of Torraca and has already resulted in the exchange of information leading to several arrests in those counties.

Charles A. Sciascia, 26, of Box 860, New Paltz RD 2, who was arrested Friday on a charge of violation of the Public Health Law, was free in bail following his appearance this morning before City Judge Hubert A. Richter, who adjourned a hearing in the case to May 10.

Sciascia was charged specifically with violation of Article 33, Section 3324-2D of the Public Health Law which deals with giving a false name when purchasing a preparation containing a narcotic. The charge arises out of the purchase of cough syrup.

He was held in jail without bail for appearance in City Court today. Sciascia had been indicted in Ulster County previously on a charge of violation of Section 1747-F 1 of the Penal Law, unlawful possession of a barbituate. He had been at a Utica center for treatment since Dec. 29, and was recently released.

Investigator Joseph Ventriglia, of the Bureau of Criminal Investigation, and Trooper David Wachtel, both of the Lake Katrine substation of State Police, made the investigation and arrest with Deputy Sheriff Thomas O'Brien of the special county narcotics investigation unit, Kingston Patrolmen Richard Sherer and Edward Ortlieb and officials of the State Narcotics Bureau.

At Poughkeepsie Robert C. Lastomirsky, 27, of 150 Franklin Street, an employe of Eastern Cleaning in Poughkeepsie, was arrested on a charge of violation of parole and when searched it was alleged heroin was found in his wallet.

District Attorney Toracca said both arrests were the result of the U.N.C.L.E. program investigations by Ulster County Narcotics Squad, Kingston Police, State Police and members of the State Narcotics Division.

His statement was likely to provoke sharp reaction from the country's power-seeking Buddhists. However, the military government did not set a specific time for turning the country over to civilian rule.

Kingston Community Concert Association is organized on an audience-participation plan and functions on a no-profit, no-loss basis. All funds received from the memberships, which are nominal in cost, are spent on the attractions for the coming season.

Signed for the 1966-67 series are: Robert Merrill, famous opera and concert stage artist; the Robert DeCormier Singers and Whittemore and Lowe, world renouned pianists.

Admission to concerts is by membership only. Tickets are not sold at the door.

City Court Cases

City Judge Hubert A. Richter sentenced a Kingston man to 10 days in the county jail today when the man admitted a third degree assult charge preferred by a private complainant.

George Minard, 29, of 37 Lawrence Street, was permitted to serve the sentance on weekends. He was arrested late Friday night on the complaint of Portis Lewis. Patrolmen Leon Fitzgerald and Douglas Longto made the investigation.

In other court cases, four persons paid a total of $45 in fines when they admitted seperate traffic charges.

They included: Bernard Johnson, of Cedar Street, fined $15 on a speeding charge preferred by Patrolman George Dougherty; John Martin, 196 Greenkill Avenue, cited by Patrolman Longto for driving with more than three persons in the front seat; Bernard Roach, 27 Johnston Avenue, stop sign, Patrolman Joseph Feraca; and Walter Schmitz, 8 Saccoman Street, stop sign, Patrolman Thomas Childs.

Cited for Violations

Two motorists were scheduled to appear today before Police Justice David Goble, Village of Saugerties, to answer traffic citations. Edward Cuna of Route [illegible] ficer Anthony Scarselli for passing in a restricted lane on Ulster Avenue. Stephen Ciesielski, of Truman Avenue, Yonkers, was cited by Officer Harry Vickery for blocking a private driveway.

Brick Company, Union To Air New Contract

Union employes of the Star Brick Company were scheduled to meet today to vote on a proposed contract which provides wage increases and return to the so-called "normal" work day which was in effect in 1964.

Joseph J. Amato, president of the Brickhandler's Union Local 1467, ILA-CIO-AFL, told The Freeman that the current two-year contract with the brick company management expired at the end of April. He denied that that there was a dispute between the union and management, and said that today's meeting in St. Liberata's Hall, East Kingston, was for the sole purpose of voting on the proposed contract affecting 87 union employes at the plant.

Amato said that return to the "normal" work day would eliminate the increased work load clause which was affected when the last contract was signed two years ago. He said that there was no work at the plant last week due to stock inventory, but that the men are scheduled to return to work Monday.

"If the enemy force was a battalion as estimated at first," he said, "there is precious little of it left. Even if there were two enemy units, they were badly mauled."

In the air war, hampered all week by monsoon rains over North Viet Nam, carrier-based U.S. Navy planes flew 26 missions Friday. They hit at highways, bridges, storage areas, railroad yards and river traffic mostly along the coast.

19 Junks Sunk

They claimed 19 junks destroyed and five more damaged, 24 barges destroyed and five damaged. In storage areas, the Navy fighter-bombers reported 41 structures destroyed and five damaged.

Also north of the 17th Parallel, U.S. Air Force fighter bombers flew 13 missions Friday, some of them in thunderstorms.

Among targets they reported hitting was a railroad yard 78 miles northwest of Hanoi and two radar sites 40 miles and 48 miles northwest of the Communist capital. Other targets included bridges, highways, a railroad yard and trucks in scattered areas.

The Air Force's delayed report on the dropping of two spans of a main bridge 25 miles northeast of Hanoi in a strike Thursday was made on the basis of photos by reconnaissance pilots.

DIED

Memoriam

In memory of Mrs. Augusta Freer for Mother's Day.

Mother's Prayers

No formal prayers from mother's lips
Were ever heard to be,
No words that sounded elegant,
When mother prayed for me.

When mother prayed—I wonder still—
What happened up above.
Did "heaven" stop to listen in
As she poured forth her love?

My mother prayed for answers real,
Believed that God who hears
Would not deny her earnest cry,
Or turn aside from tears.

God answers yet my mother's prayers,
Though she is lost to view.
Sweet memories of precious days
They help to keep me true.

Thank God, He listened to her plea,
And saved my soul from sin.
In answer to a mother's prayers
That she her child might win.

Doing The Right Thing

By ELIZABETH L. POST

TOO MANY FLOWERS CAN OVERWHELM HOSTESS

Dear Mrs. Post: In our community someone has started the practice of sending flowers, usually the centerpiece for the dining table, to the hostesses entertaining at dinner parties. This, of course, is most pleasant for the hostess, and I would presume that it would be perfectly acceptable, but I wonder if everyone should do it. What does etiquette require?—Emily C.

Dear Emily: Sending flowers to the hostess is not a requirement of etiquette, but it is certainly a thoughtful and appreciative gesture. However, at a large dinner party if everyone did this, it would be more like a wake than a dinner party and I think it should be restricted to the guest of honor or as a thank you from a good friend after the party.

Uniformity More Important Than Uniform

Dear Mrs. Post: My daughter is going to be married next month at 6:30 in the evening. Her brother is a captain in the Air Force on active duty. He is to be one of the ushers. Would it be correct for him to wear his formal, full dress uniform even though none of the other men in the wedding party are in military service, or would it be better for him to dress the same as the other men?— Dora K.

Dear Dora: Since we are technically at peace and there is no requirement that he wear his uniform, he will contribute more to the appearance of the wedding party if he is dressed the same as the other men.

Two For the Price of One

Dear Mrs. Post: I am expecting my first baby in a few weeks and I would like to know if it would be permissable to enclose the invitations to the christening in with the birth announcements? We're sending out 100. If we could, it would not only cut down on postage but also elimmate the task of having to address the envelopes twice. Also, if you say it's all right, should each be put in their own separate envelopes and then enclosed in one larger envelope? — Florence M.

Dear Florence: I can't see any rason not to send both together nor can I see my reason why they should be put into separate envelopes inside the large one.

The booklet entitled "Formal Wedding Procedure," includes helpful information on the wedding procession, receiving line and other wedding details. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Elizabeth L. Post, in care of The Freeman.

hints from Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise:
I am a beauty operator who works in a big shop.
I have rolled hair on many, many heads in my lifetime.
I should like to tell your housewives that if they spray their hair with some hair spray after they roll their hair on rollers, it will not be fuzzy when they comb it out!
Be sure to do this before drying your hair. The canned hair spray must be applied while the hair is absolutely wet.
Then dry it, whether under a dryer or by nature — it makes no difference. Gerry

Dear Folks:
I have tried this and think it is fantabulous.
I don't know what it does or why, but after testing it many, many weeks, I find it is so.
Heloise

Dear Heloise:
One day my grandmother was helping me when I was making peanut butter cookies.
I was pressing down on them with a fork, and she went to the drawer and got my steak pounder.
One side has a small waffle-shaped pattern.
She used this on her cookies, and they looked so nice I thought I'd write to tell you about it.
Mrs. Ernest Snyder

Letter of Laughter
Dear Heloise:
I put a speck of nailpolish inside the right shoe, and another speck on one toenail of the right foot of each of my children.
Helps keep the three-year-olds from looking like they got their feet on the wrong legs!
Kay

I want to make a contribution to your wonderful column.
I never forget to mail a letter because I have an on-person bulletin board that never fails.
Being a man who has a job that requires him to wear a four-in-hand tie, I naturally wear a tie clasp. When my wife gives me a letter to mail, I put it over my tie, held in place by the clasp, and if I neglect to mail it, everyone I meet calls it to my attention.
If I want to be sure to remember to do something, I write myself a little note and put it under my tie clasp. I never forget. (Somebody's bound to call it to my atention.)

Robber Sells Gun

LEWISTON, Idaho (AP) — Service station attendant Gilbert Spaulding was confronted recently by a man wielding a rifle and ordered to empty the till, police said.
Spaulding complied and the robber stuffed the loot in his pockets. But Spaulding managed to grab the rifle and took back the money.

Spaulding bought the loaded rifle for $20.

Women Need Day Care Centers, Not Candy And Flowers, Says Young Working Mother

By JOY MILLER

NEW YORK (AP) — As everyone knows, invention is the necessity of Mother.
Woman — the resourceful sex — has always been able to juggle two or three roles expertly — or, as Lois Benjamin phrases it, "keep the sauce bearnais spoon and the pablum spoon going simultaneously while she's typing with her toes."
But now with nine million mothers in the United States bringing home paychecks, Mrs. Benjamin, a young working mother herself, thinks it's about time they got some assistance on a grand scale.
The two major needs this minute for working mothers, she says, are government-sponsored day care programs and a revolution in the professional status of household workers so that adequate help at home would be available.
These would be better Mothers Day gifts than all the candy and flowers in the world, she thinks.
Slim, brunette Mrs. Benjamin has had a lifetime of contact with the problems of working mothers. She is the daughter of a famous one — fashion designer Jo Copeland — and she's the mother of Tony, 5, and Roger, 3.
These days she's an expert too, having just written a book "So You Want To Be a Working Mother."
"About those day care centers to take care of children while mother works," she says, "they're the first thing emerging countries set up. Their position is that they need women in the labor force.
"The U.S. position is that women are needed at home — based on ancient and honorable and cockeyed theories about what women want.
"Day care should be regarded as a public utility as much as water or electricity."
Some concentrated effort — either by the government or perhaps some large nationwide employment agency — should be made to upgrade domestic work, she says.

Granny Look En Famille

If you're slim you can compete with your teen-age daughter for best-dressed lady "at home." You, too, can get into a granny for evenings en famille.

Prefab Spires

GREENBURG, Pa. (AP)—In the past a town might have to wait weeks or even years for a new spire to be erected atop its church. Today, new engineering techniques and prefabricated metals help hold spire erection time down to just a few hours, says the Overly Manufacturing Company.

Farmers to Help Each Other Build Homes, Cut Costs

The Farmers Home Administration division of the Department of Apriculture is applying an old American custom to help solve a modern American problem: shortage of housing.
Many of our American communities, especially in the midwest, owe their earliest buildings to a system of co-op building where families would ban together and helped each other build their homes.
Such a project is moving forward in nine states and Puerto Rico where low income families cut construction costs by supplying most of the labor needed in the construction of their homes.
The states include California, Michigan, Mississippi, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Oklahoma, Texas, and Pennsylvania.
The Farmers Home Administration supplies the capital for building supplies through a low cost loan and also provides for a supervisor to advise the home builders.
The average loan in California is about $6,600 with the finished home valued at $8,000 to $9,000. The cost is about the same in New Jersey.
Costs tend to vary throughout the country depending on the material used. In Texas, a retired army colonel and a Catholic priest have built two homes with an average loan of less than $1,800 by using material salvaged from an old army barracks. The homes are worth an average of $6,500 when completed.

Truck Has Good Aim

SELKIRK, N.Y. (AP) — The owner of a package store along Route 144 here mopped up $4,000 worth of his "very best liquor" today after a tractor-trailer smashed through a wall of the building Friday night.
Theodore Kallen, owner of Doc's Tavern, said the "good stuff—brandy, scotch and bourbon—" was hardest hit. "We wouldn't have minded so much if the truck had hit the wines."
Kallen's store, with an adjacent tavern and motel, is about 40 feet from the road in this community south of Albany.

Dear Abby . . .

A Debt That Can Never Be Repaid

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: May I say something for the thousands of us who are retired? Most of us draw small social security retirement benefits and have no other income. We can't work for various reasons. Maybe a wife or husband is disabled and can't be left alone. Then our children write us, "Don't do this," and "Don't do that." And, "Can't you get someone to do it for you?" I wonder where they think the money is coming from to get things "done" for us? They also say, "If you 'need' anything, let us know."
Abby, they know we aren't going to ask them for anything. Why can't each son and daughter send a few dollars every month in case mom and dad "need" something? It would mean so much to us. Parents are proud, and they don't like to ask their children for anything. What do you say, Abby?
ONE WHO KNOWS

DEAR ONE: I say, I'd like to see the child who had to ask his parents for something he "needed." Parents know how much it costs to feed and clothe each child, and there was always enough for "extras" because mom and dad denied themselves luxuries. The son or daughter of an aging parent who says, "If you 'need' anything, let us know," needs to know something of the debt he never can repay — the one he owes his parents.

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: I have a 22-year-old son who is only human. There is a big, overgrown, 14-year-old girl who lives up the street from us, and she runs after my son all the time. Her parents have given her permission to date. She is forever bouncing over here, asking my son to carry her places or to take her to the movies or somewhere.
I told him he had better not because if anything ever happened to her he would go to jail. I am worried to death all the time. I have even taikd with this girl and tried to warn her about what could happen, but she won't listen to me. What do I do now?
WORRIED MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: If you think your son could become dangerously involved with this girl, why don't you lecture HIM? It won't help to "warn" Little Red Riding Hood if the "wolf" is loose and bent on mischief.

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: What can I do about my mother? I am 15 and have just started to date. (People say I'm cute.) My mother is a 37-year-old widow, and she has just started to date, too. (She is very attractive.) Last Saturday night I had to break a very special date because at the last minute mom got a chance to go out and one of us had to stay home with my two little brothers. And another thing, Abby, mom is always on the phone, and my friends tell me they can never get me. I don't think this is fair, but what can I do about it?
GROWING PAINS

DEAR PAINS: Since both you and your mother are now playing the dating game, you should take time out and make some ground rules. Don't expect "equality;" mom should get preference because of her age (you've got more time, honey). But you should never be asked to break a special date to baby-sit. And about the phone: Tell mom to put in a second phone if it means scrimping somewhere else. It's the best investment an attractive widow with three children can make.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "JUST ASKING" IN ENDICOTT: If your husband is unreasonable, inconsiderate, and an out-and-out cheapskate, take him apart during the daytime about it. But to go through his pants pocket while he's asleep is just plain wrong!

Right Lead Sets South

By JACOBY & SON
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

A letter from Portland, Maine, reads in part: "West opened the nine of clubs against my four-heart contract. He got in with the king of hearts to lead a second club and with the ace of hearts to lead a third club for his partner to ruff. I had to lose a diamond later on and wound up one down. My partner claims that I overbid. Did I?"

The answer to our reader is that he did not overbid at all. He had a full opening bid opposite his partner's club opening, plus a fit in clubs, and was fully entitled to force the game. Furthermore, the game contract was a good one and could have been made against any lead but a club. We think that, instead of fussing at South, North should have congratulated West on a beautiful opening lead.

It is pretty easy to see the effectiveness of a club opening when you look at all the cards, and we believe that the West hand does call for a club opening, but we wonder just how many bridge players would see the strong possibility that repeated club leads would eventually give their partner a ruff.

It is seldom good tactics to lead a suit that your opponents have bid and rebid. In fact, such a lead usually comes close to being a give-away play, but this time West had a lot going for him.

To start with, he could be pretty sure that hearts would divide 5-3-3-2. Then North and South were each likely to hold four clubs. North had opened the suit and South had iven a jump raise.

Furthermore, West did not have any other lead with any real promise. He had no reason to open a trump and neither his spade nor diamond holding looked attractive.

habilitation are part of the 1964 Housing Act, as amended (Section 312) and will be "very useful tools to the agency in carrying out rehabilitation in Kingston's Urban Renewal Projects." Both programs, and eligibility requirements, will be explained to area residents by agency staff when they visit property owners, he said.

Hemphill stressed that the Urban Renewal Agency's Rehabilitation Program for Broadway East was far more than a "fix-up, paint-up, clean-up" campaign. He said that although this would be an element of the program, it would have more "substance," adding that a physical upgrading of each property and the entire area would be brought about.

"This is a fine, old neighborhood where there is a high rate of home ownership — and pride of ownership. The agency is confident that, under the rehabilitation program, all properties will be rehabilitated so that its rehabilitation program will further upgrade the community through specific property improvements to be made by the owners and through actual direct improvements being brought about by Urban Renewal."

This is a renewal effort which does not rely on extensive use of the bulldozer, Hemphill stated. He added that in the past, some property owners wanted to improve their properties but were reluctant to do so because their neighbors weren't fixing theirs. "In a sense, this is an enforced rehabilitation program," Hemphill said, and stated that a property owner can be sure his money for improvements is in an area that is assured of being upgraded — not at a standstill or in a decline. "It will be our responsibility to make certain that all owners comply with the rehabilitation requirements and a willing owner need not worry about the "guy across the street" and the sad state of disrepair of his property."

Hemphill said there is a keen interest of area residents in the program, and that the cooperation and interest of people thus far was very encouraging.

The agency has employed a rehabilitation staff and has recently contracted for technical firm of Hutton and Mayer, 14 Pearl Street.

Hemphill said that anyone with a question about the program could feel free to call Robert Aprea or Robert Peck at Kingston Urban Renewal Agency office, 436 Broadway.

(18) Last Days of China

by Don Oakley and John Lane

Under the wide heaven, there is no land, there is none who is not a subject of the emperor.

—Book of Odes

This was China as the 18th century flowed into the 19th:

The Manchus, who had taken the dynastic name of Ch'ing, or "Pure," had ruled for 150 years through the traditional institutions and were considered legitimately Chinese.

Under two model Confucian emperors, K'ang Hsi and his grandson Ch'ien Lung, both of whose reigns lasted 60 years, China reached its greatest territorial extent. Population had soared to some 300 million and for the first time there was serious overcrowding.

That population was overwhelmingly peasant, uneducated and superstitious. Above the peasantry was the gentry class, whose wealth was based on land ownership. The gentry were the guardians of the Confucianist bases of China's society and the source of its officials.

The Chinese had always been collectivistic. The basic unit of society was not the individual but the family, which included the dead as well as the living, with authority proceeding from age and maleness.

Lovers of culture, propounders of great ethical systems and bound by an elaborate etiquette designed to smooth human relationships but which baffled and seemed hypocritical to Westerners, the Chinese were yet capable of outbursts of anarchy and cruelty.

Brilliant inventors in the past, the Chinese had never developed science. They desired not to master nature but to live in harmony with it. Proud of their long history, self-sufficient as an agricultural people, they merely wished to be left alone.

As modern Chinese historian H. T. Lei notes, "Not only were there no new stirrings of the spirit in any sphere, but no need for such stirrings was even faintly felt."

China was crystallized, static and satisfied, and convinced as of old that there was but one Great Society. All who conformed to its ways were Chinese, whatever their race. All who did not were barbarians. The Chinese were totally ignorant of the ideas of international law and equality among nations that had been developed in the West.

This was China on the brink of invasion by an alien culture armed with technology. Unlike previous invasions, this one was to be by sea. Its impact on the Flowery Kingdom, the Central Nation, the Celestial Empire could not have been more profound had it come from another planet.

Vols Quell Blaze

Heavy smoke and some furniture damage resulted from a fire that broke out about 4:45 Friday afternoon in a home owned by W. E. Schabot at 1060 Stoll Court in the Town of Ulster. Fire Chief Hilary Schultz of Ulster Hose No. 5, said that the fire started in overstuffed furniture in the basement of the house. Children were listed as probable cause of the blaze. There was no structural damage to the house. The Ulster volunteers, under Chief Schultz, returned to service a bout 6:30 p. m.

Check Television Fire

A short circuit in a television set was listed as cause of a fire alarm shortly after midnight in a first floor apartment at the Park View Terrace apartments, Miller's Lane.

Dispatchers at Central Fire Station said that the fire was in an apartment occupied by Mrs. Isaac Reuben where a short circuit caused damage to the TV set's picture tube, condenser and wiring. They said the fire was out upon arrival. The building is owned by Alexander Harnett.

Dislodged Boulder Hurts 2 Children

Two Ellenville youngsters were injured when they were struck by a dislodged boulder about 4:20 p. m. Friday on a hillside off Mountain Avenue in that southern Ulster County village.

Ellenville village police said that John Lake, 6, suffered a left foot injury which required surgery, while Coleen Quick, also 6, suffered abrasions and contusions. They were taken to the Ellenville Community Hospital by the Ellenville First Aid Squad ambulance.

A third youngster, Mike Quick, 7½, escaped injury. All the youngsters live on Mountain Avenue.

Village police told The Freeman that Mike Quick was climbing a hill ahead of the others when a boulder he grabbed broke lose and tumbled below, striking the others. They said that Reuben Lake, also of Mountain Avenue, was checking bait nearby when he heard the cries of the children. He went to the scene where he discovered the accident.

"Quality Is Remembered Long After Price Is Forgotten"

Since 1919, The Wonderly Company, founded by C. E. Wonderly, Sr., has operated as in the days of old as a Dry Goods store and, as time went on, linens and fashions for men and women were added. Today it is one of the most modern women's fashion specialty stores in this area. The Wonderly Company is also one of the largest Drapery Decorating firms in the eastern part of the United States and covers an area from Canada to Florida and west to the Mississippi River, in commercial drapery fabrication. In the past few years, this has grown to include a 5,000 square foot workroom at 134 North Front St. Within this phase of the operation, the Company also does stage rigging for schools and auditoriums throughout the east. Diversification is the byword with quality workmanship and service. The above slogan carried in all our ads has been our trademark for many years.

Restaurant In Keeping With Early American Traditions

One of Kingston's fine old stone buildings, corner of John and Crown Streets, now housing The Stockade Restaurant, is almost as well known for its interior decorations as it is for its famous 32 inch lime stone walls. With an eye towards the era that the structure was built, the owner of The Stockade Restaurant has gone to great lengths to complete all interior decorations in keeping with early American traditions. Open sturdy hand-hewn beams span the 111 seat restaurant and rough-sown shiplap panels the walls. The cocktail lonuge sports a small bar where the design is such that wine and champagne bottles are horizontally racked, which in olden days was done to keep the corks wet, thus preventing them from popping. Replicas of lighting fixtures of another age hang throughout the Crown Street restaurant.

On hand and now being framed are pictures of Young America, The Hudson Valleys Old Dutch Church and many others all in keeping with historical Kingston in general and the Stockade in particular.

In the opinion of the owner the need of another good restaurant in uptown Kingston fashioned in a quiet atmosphere, would be successful. With this in mind and the fact that the former Kingston Academy building was one of four famous stone buildings dating back to the 1700's, triggered negotiations to gain possession of the building for a restaurant where Ulster County people could wine and dine in a conservative atmosphere. Wall to wall rugging throughout and mood music bespeaks conservatism.

Now open seven days a week from 8.30 a. m. until 9:30 p. m. The Stockade Restaurant features American cooking under the supervision of James Terwilliger. Small parties and banquets reservations are acceptable as are reservations for Mother's Day, Sundays and evenings.

The advertising for The Stockade Restaurant is handled by Robert H. Saeloff, pictured.

Questions and Answers About Advertising

Q—Shouldn't advertising sponsors and writers have a sense of responsibility to the public and avoid bad grammar and slang in advertising?

A—We think a large majority of the people in advertising would answer your question with an emphatic "yes." A small minority would say: "The only purpose of advertising is to sell. As long as we don't depart from accepted standards of decency, the grammar we use in selling is nobody's responsibility but our own."

Language is a living form of communication. Grammar, of course, is constantly changing. Take, for example, "who" in the sentence "Who do you call?"—which you cited. We were taught to say "whom," but some authorities sanction "who." Just one example: Professor Bergen Evans writes in his Dictionary of Contemporary American Usage: "When a verb follows 'who,' it is correct to use 'who.' However, when it follows a preposition, it must be 'whom.'"

Advertising writers try to avoid stiff and stuffy language. In their efforts to write as most people talk, they may resort to slang, as in the other advertisement you mentioned. Slang is condoned by very few people in advertising. We don't like the word "irregardless," either, but common usage has put it in the dictionary!

Do ungrammatical advertisements irritate the prospective customer to the point of developing an unfavorable attitude toward the product? It doesn't always follow. The final judgment of the effectivenes of ungrammatical advertising rests with the public. If enough people are irritated and shun the advertised product, the advertiser soon discovers his mistake. That's why, among the thousands of ads in print, so few play fast and loose with grammar.

Sunday at Oehlers

West New York Booters Sport Club Sunday Foe

Luxuriating in the heady atmosphere of the first division, Kingston Sport Club Kickers have mapped plans for the decisive rout of Sunday's opponent at Oehler's Mountain Lodge.

The opposition is the defensively rugged West New York squad which finds itself a few notches below Kingston in the League Division standings of the German-American Soccer Association.

Manager Bob Graves, resurgent kickers also have another incentive going for them — a perfect record at home in German-American League competition.

The locals are currently in fifth place in the league standings behind College Point, Shamrock, Bavarian and Lithuanians and a notch ahead of Bridgeport with 22 points on 9 wins, 4 ties and 6 losses.

Graves has settled on a starting lineup without Al Miller, the former State University (New Paltz) All-American who has missed several games because of college clinics across the country.

Seek Added Punch

"Miller says he's in semi-retirement, but we're hoping to make him change his mind," said Manager Graves in a preview of Sunday's game.

"The team is jelling nicely, but we need more defensive punch and we're still on the lookout for new material."

Sport Club stock has soared since Graves returned to the fold. He piloted the Kickers to three consecutive Central New York championships before resigning his post. Now he is back in full vigor and the team's record shows it.

If Howie Schmalz, one of the State College trio, is available Sunday, Graves plans to use him at goalie and shift Harry Wendland to outside right.

"Wendland has done a great job for us," said Graves, "but Schmalz is outstanding at goalie and we can use Wendland's skill at outside right."

The starting lineup Sunday is likely to include: Schmalz, Joe Faccioli, Richie Lotze, Lee Roberts, Toni Alexander, Winifred Soddermann, Peter Fuchs, Mario Simone, Nick Alexander and Jimmy Reinhardt.

The reserve corps includes Oscar Benzenhoefer, Heinz Ulfig and Mannie Froehlich.

Game time is 2:30 p. m.

Columbus Team Keeps Loop Lead

INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

If you have nobody special to feel sorry for today, try shedding a few tears for the Jacksonville Suns, the International League's team on a treadmill.

The Suns have been as torrid as their nickname would indicate ever since the season began. Their record is 13-2 and they've won seven games in a row. But who leads the league? Not Jacksonville.

Columbus' defending champions are on top of the heap with an 8-1 record that bears the mark of a champion — three one-run victories and a couple of others by only two runs.

Both Jacksonville and Columbus kept up the pace Friday night, the Suns clouting last-place Buffalo 8-1 and the Jets typically squeezing past Rochester in 11 innings, 6-5.

In other action, Toronto ended the seven-game winning streak of the Richmond Braves, 8-7, in the 11th inning and Toledo swept a pair from Syracuse by identical 3-2 scores, the second game requiring 11 innings.

Greg Goossen's fifth home run and four runs-batted-in by Dany Napoleon, who had a homer and a single, helped Jacksonville lefty Larry Miller coast past Buffalo with a six-hitter. For the Bisons it was the eighth consecutive loss.

Jack Damaska's bloop single with two out in the 11th carried Columbus to victory at Rochester over previously unbeaten relief artist Bobby Scott.

Jim Russin's single in the 11th with the bases loaded enabled Toronto to halt Richmond's upward surge after the Braves had tied the score with four runs in the top of the ninth.

Toledo, which began the season poorly, pulled into a third-place tie with Richmond in its double conquest of Syracuse. The Mud Hens now are 5-5, the Braves 7-7.

SF Takes NL Lead, Wins, 4-2

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

San Francisco left Bob Gibson at the gate and Atlanta caught Barry Latman at the wire, but Milt Pappas and Rob Gardner finally made the winner's circle in the pitching derby.

The streaking Giants parlayed a walk, an error and two of their three hits off Gibson Friday night into three first-inning runs and a 4-2 victory over St. Louis that shot them into the National League lead.

The Braves, held to one hit by Latman for eight innings, struck for six runs in the ninth and halted Houston's winning streak 6-0.

1st for Gardner

Pappas, meanwhile, gained his first victory in the league as Cincinnati slugged Los Angeles 7-1. And Gardner won for the first time in the majors as New York edged Chicago 2-1.

In the other NL game, Philadelphia spotted Pittsburgh four runs in the top of the 11th inning and then countered with five in its half for an 8-7 verdict that dropped the Pirates into second place.

Gibson's shaky start enabled the Giants to stretch their winning string to five games behind unbeaten right-hander Gaylord Perry and to climb 1½ games ahead of Pittsburgh. Perry won his fourth — with late-inning relief from Frank Linzy — while Gibson's record dipped to 2-3.

Don Landrum and Willie McCovey, the first two batters Gibson faced, singled and walked, respectively. Willie Mays tapped to the mound but Jim Hart slashed a two-run triple and scored the third run of the inning when Tito Fuentes' grounder went through second baseman Julian Javier.

Gibson then retired 24 straight Giants — before Tom Haller homered with two out in the ninth — and established a personal career high of 14 strikeouts.

Latman, who had posted a sparkling 1.29 earned run average in three starts, limited the Braves to a third-inning single by Felipe Alou until the ninth, when Alou led off with another single.

The Houston right-hander walked Hank Aaron and, two outs later, Joe Torre singled across the first run of the game. A run-scoring double by Rico Carty knocked out Latman and the Braves went on to lock it up on a two-run single by Ed Mathews, a triple by Denis Menke and a single by pitcher Denny Lemaster.

Lemaster yielded seven hits in snapping the Astros' winning streak at five games.

Pappas, acquired by Cincinnati in the inter-league deal that sent slugger Frank Robinson to Baltimore, won for the Reds on his fourth try. He scattered eight hits, and retired the last 12 men he faced and was backed by Tony Perez' two-run homer and a three-run shot by Art Shamsky.

The loss was the fourth in a row for the Dodgers.

Jones Is Hero

Cleon Jones' leadoff homer in the ninth lifted the Mets past Chicago and made Gardner a winner in his ninth big league appearance. The 21-year-old southpaw had allowed only four earned runs in three previous starts this season without being involved in a decision.

He stopped the Cubs on four hits, including Ron Santo's sixth-inning homer, and struck out eight. He also had two of the Mets' six hits, driving in their first run with a double in the fifth.

The Phillies blew a 3-0 lead in the seventh inning, fell behind 7-3 in the 11th and then came back to win against Pittsburgh relievers Woody Fryman and Roy Face.

Senators Slug 15 Safeties to Post 5th Win

Ulster Community batters had their hitting shoes on Friday in New Paltz as they clubbed out 15 hits and romped to a 16-6 triumph over the State U. frosh.

Coach Al DiBernardo's club backed up some nifty pitching by Gene Fix with a home run and triple by John Freligh, a double and two singles by Paul (Boots) Buytkins and two hits each from the bats of Tony Toney, George Druttman and the winning chucker.

Seven Perfect Frames

The Senators had two big innings—getting half a dozen markers in the third and five more in the fifth. Fix was perfect for seven innings, setting the Hawks down in order each time.

Losing pitcher Ed Josephs spoiled the perfect game bid, the no-hitter and the shutout all at once when he homered in the eighth. The home side tallied twice more in that frame and added three in the ninth off Cole Vulpani.

Ulster is now 5-2 and has games today at Staten Island, Monday at Cantine Field against Dutchess and Wednesday at Cantine against Sullivan Community.

Villanova Shines At Quantico Relay

QUANTICO, Va. (AP) — Villanova's highly-rated sophomores have proved they run just as well on a fast track as a muddy one.

But the young Wildcats, winning the distance medley relay for the second week in a row, got no better than a share of the honors Friday at the opening of the Quantico Relays on a wind-swept day during which the temperature rose to the low 90s.

Five meet records were brokn. The track was packed down by a week of rain and dried out by three days of sun and wind.

North Carolina College streaked to a 41.3 record in the 440-yeard relay qualifying trials; Leon Coleman of Winston-Salem skipped over the 440-yeard intermediate hurdles in 51.2, and the Quantico Marines' four-mile relay team ran its specialty in 16:56.0.

Frank Costello of Maryland and Elijah Miller of Rutgers shared a record of 6-10 in the high jump, with Costello the winner on fewer misses. Veteran Charlie Mays of New York did a record 25-11¼ in the long jump.

Villanova really wasn't extended in winning the major collegiate distance medley relay in 9:53.8.

A 2:56.3 three-quarter mile by Ian Hamilton gave the Wildcats the lead after three laps, and miler David Patrick needed only a 4:13 anchor effort to hold off Fordham for a 20-yeard victory. Patrick had run a 4:04.6 mile in the Penn Relays mud last week to beat Georgetown.

New Paltz Team Is 'Snowed' at Cortland

It might be hard to believe, but the Hawks of New Paltz State had their baseball game yesterday at Cortland called because of snow.

New Paltz had a 7-3 lead in the top of the fourth inning when the fluffy white stuff started to fall. After a several minutes delay and no signs of the snow stopping, the umpires called the game.

The themometer was between 28 and 32 degrees during the afternoon and it rained early in the game.

Onteora Wins, 5-2 Over Rondout Valley

Onteora failed to hit the ball out of the infield in a wild fifth inning but scored three times to break a 2-2 deadlock and beat visiting Rondout Valley, 5-2, in a UCAL tilt.

The triumph moved coach Paul Jordan's Indians into a second place tie with Marlboro, three games behind league leading Highland.

Standings:

| Team | Won | Lost | Tied |
|---|---|---|---|
| Highland | 6 | 0 | 1 |
| Onteora | 3 | 3 | 1 |

| Rondout Valley | 3 | 4 | 0 |
| New Paltz | 3 | 4 | 0 |
| Pine Bush | 2 | 4 | 1 |
| Wallkill | 1 | 3 | 2 |

Russ Carlson began the fifth inning frolic by working loser Tom Tegeler for a base on balls. He then proceeded to steal second base.

Fritz Martin laid down a bunt and when the throw went past first base, Carlson scored and Martin went all the way to third.

John Waters grounded to the infield and the ball was booted, enabing Martin to score. Gary Beesmer reached first on an error, putting two runners on.

Charles Moore, the winning chucker, sacrificed the runners to second and third and Art Kelder grounded out to score the third run.

Moore surrendered singles runs in the first and fifth innings. He allowed four hits, walked two and fanned eight. Tegeler was touched for five safeties.

Gary Heinitz of the Ganders and Moore slammed doubles.

Onteora visits Marlboro next Tuesday and the second place tie should be broken.

In jayvee action between the schools, Onteora scored a 5-4 decision, only the second loss in 11 starts for the home side.

Terry sahler suffered the setback. He was touched for just four hits. He walked three and struck out eight.

Champion Golf Postponed Again

HOUSTON (AP) — Officials hoped to get the $117,000 Champions International Golf Tournament underway today after rain washed out the opening round for the second straight day Friday.

The first round was reset for this morning, with 18 holes to be played today and Sunday and 36 holes Monday.

It was the first time in eight years a tournament on the Professional Golfers Association tour failed to start in either of the first two days.

Three days and two nights of almost continuous rain soaked the 7,118-yard par 36-35—71 Cypress Creek Course. Friday's rain was particularly heavy.

7 Top Pacers In Spa Feature

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y. —Harness racing fans will have their work cut out for them trying to make a selection in tonight's featured ninth race at Saratoga Raceway. It's a wide open affair all the way and contains the ingredients to brew up the best pacing event of the young season.

The marshall will call seven top-rate sidewheelers postward for the $2,000 LTS Malta Mobile Home Invitational. Gold Cloud proved he can handle an off track while winning impressively last week. The five-year-old horse has also raced well in Florida, where he had a nifty 2:01.4 mark. Bill Current takes the son of Gold Worthy away from the six hole and will have to overcome plenty of early speed among the horses leaving from the inside posts in order to repeat.

Knight Surprise is another powerful pacer who rates plenty of consideration. The four-year-old gelding leaves from the middle of the pack with Pete Dailey in the bike. A winner of two straight with a mark of 2:05.2, the Knight Dream offspring should be in the thick of things all the way.

Four of the other starters have all raced well this year. Success Saint has a victory in 2:05.1, June Dale Chips cracked the win circle after stopping the clock in 2:05.3; Irish Times comes in from Rockingham where he scored in 2:06 and a piece and Grand Lusty has a pair of very sharp seconds to his credit.

Ace Dares makes his first start of the season and has been assigned the rail. The handsome roan posted a mark of 2:00.4 at Vernon in '65.

Kauai King Early Favorite In Kentucky Derby Betting

By BOB COOPER
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — More than 100,000 racing fans — from wealthy tycoons to nail-biting $2 bettors — jammed Churchill Downs to the rafters today for the 92nd running of the Kentucky Derby.

Center stage for America's most sought-after thoroughbred racing prize were four dozen owners, trainers and jockeys and 15 colts in the prime of their equine lives.

More than half the humans involved in the race were seeking the blanket of roses that bedecks the winnr for the first time. Four thoroughbreds, including the early favorite in the betting, had novice owners, trainers and jockeys.

When the special Derby mutuel windows reopened at 9 a.m., Kauai King held a slight edge on the odds board over Abe's Hope. Kauai King was posted at 5-2 and Abe's Hope at 3-1.

But only $174,114 was dropped in the Derby pot on Friday in advance betting at the track. And that was less than a tenth of the amount expected to be in the pool by post time, 5:30 p.m. EDT.

Stupendous, Mrs. H.C. Phipps' sixth Derby starter since 1928, and Amberoid, first Derby starter for Reginald N. Webster, president of the Thoroughbred Owners and Breeders Association, also were getting good play.

The mutuel field — shortened to four horses when Mary Keim withdrew Sean E Indian because of injury — was posted at 14-1 in the advance betting.

Longshots in the race were Quinta, an early speed horse who has won four races at seven furlongs or less; Sky Guy, another quick starter with questionable staying power, and Fleet Shoe, a $5,200 purchase as a yearling in California.

Only a third of the 15 owners have been in the Derby spotlight before today and, of those, only Ada L. Rice has been to the winner's circle. She won last year with Lucky Debonair and was trying again with Advocator.

Bill Shoemaker, aboard Abe's Hope for his 15th Derby ride, had three times the experience of his nearest competitors — Bill Boland on Amberoid and Bill Harmatz on Dominar.

Hirsch Jacobs' saddling of Exhibitionist led the trainers with his fifth starter, but was trying for his first winner.

The novice camps were those of Kauai King, Williamston Kid, Quinta and Blue Skyer, their owners, trainers and jockeys in the big race for the first time.

None of the trainers in the paddock for the 92nd Derby ever had been to the winner's circle before, and only four of the jockeys had won previous Derbies.

Shoemaker, looking for victory No. 4 and his second in a row, led the riding parade. Bill Boland, aboard Amberoid; Braulio Baeza, on Stupendous, and John Sellers, riding Advocator, won once each in the past.

The real stars of the race, the 15 colts, were making their first Derby starts, of course, because only 3-year-olds are allowed in the race. In the past, the 15 had won 60 of 269 other races.

bulance Service to Benedictine Hospital after another one-car accident about 1:15 a. m. today on the Glasco Turnpike just west of Route 9W in the Town of Saugerties.

City Youths Injured

Troopers said that John Noonan, 19, of 77 Pearl Street, Kingston, the driver suffered left eye cuts, and John Bohan, 19, of 54 St. James Street, Kingston, his passenger, suffered chin cuts. They said that Noonan said he was driving west on Glasco Turnpike when he was blinded by the lights of an oncoming car, causing his vehicle to leave the northwest shoulder of the road where it struck a tree.

Trooper Broers investigated.

Another motorist and passenger were injured in a two-car collision about 10:40 Friday night on Rt. 209 just south of Rt. 213 in the Town of Marbletown.

Troopers said that Patricia Fitzgerald, 19, of Box 66, Connelly, suffered a sprained neck, while her passenger, Sterling Potter, 17, of 189 Horton Lane, Port Ewen, suffered left leg abrasions. They were taken to Benedictine Hospital by A and A Ambulance Service.

Troopers said that the Fitzgerald woman was driving north on Rt. 209 and Ward Heitman, 36, of Route 1, St. Remy, was backing from a driveway onto the highway when their vehicles collided.

Troopers Dempsey and Broers investigated.

Face Traffic Charge

A teenage Kingston driver was cited for failure to keep to right after a two-car mishap about 3:30 p. m. Friday on the Ulster Landing Road near the Star Brick Co.

Troopers said that Nancy Arace, 16, of 146 Smith Avenue, is scheduled to answer the summons before Peace Justice Robert Stedge, Town of Ulster, at a later date. They said that she was driving southbound on Ulster Landing Rd. and was in the middle of the highway to make a u-turn when her vehicle was struck by a car driven north by Patrick Manfro, 18, of 123 Henry St., Kingston. No injuries were reported.

Trooper Carl Van Wagenen investigated.

Cars Collide on 9W

Two other motorists escaped injury when their heavy-duty vehicles collided on a grade on Rt. 9W just south of the Greene County line in the Town of Saugerties.

Troopers said that John Stoly, 60, of Oak Lodge Park, Saugerties, was driving a delivery truck northbound and was starting on an upgrade when his vehicle was in collision with a flatbed tractor trailer driven by Kenneth Romaine, of Box 342, West Saugerties, which was headed northbound on the downgrade. They said that the tractor trailer unit, which was owned by Mitchell Trucking Company, skidded on the grade into the southbound lane where it struck the delivery truck.

Trooper Van Wagenen investigated.

3 Hurt in Dutchess

Three persons were injured and a Highland youth was cited for a motor vehicle violation as the result of a one-car accident on Violet Avenue, Town of Poughkeepsie, shortly after 12:30 a. m. today.

Police Lieut. Paul Osterman said Charles H. Rhodes, 19, Highland, was driving his car south on the avenue at Cottage Road when the vehicle failed to negotiate a curve and careened into a ditch.

Rhodes was cited by Patrolman John Bodo on a charge of driving at a speed not reasonable and prudent. The summons is returnable before Justice of the Peoce George Dietz, Town of Pougheepsie.

Injured Are Treated

Rhodes sustained lacerations of the nose and face. Anthony Rigothi Jr., 19, of 311 Hooker Avenue, Poughkeepsie, a passenger in the car received lacerations of the face and shock. Another passenger, Beatrice A. Joseph, 19, of 52 South Randolph Avenue, Poughkeepsie, suffered lacerations of the face, head, hips and legs and a cerebral concussion.

The injured were taken to St. Francis' Hospital, Poughkeepsie.

Two persons were injured and one of them was cited for a traffic violation after two separate accidents early today in the Ellenville area.

State Police at the Ellenville substation said that Betty Bryan, 54, of Ellenville, was taken to the Ellenville Community Hospital for treatment of left shoulder injuries after a one-car mishap on Route 52. They said she was a passenger in a car driven by Arthur De Witt, 34, of Walker Valley. They said that De Witt was traveling east on Rt. 52 when his car went off the right shoulder of the road, returned to the highway, went out of control, skidded back off the right shoulder and overturned. The accident occurred about 3:30 a. m.

Driver Faces Charge

Earlier about 3 a. m., Arturo Mendez, 23, of Homowack Lodge, Spring Glen, was driving west on Rt. 52 near Greenfield Park when his car went off the north shoulder of the road, jumped a guard rail and rolled over. Mendez was taken to Ellenville Community Hospital for severe right hand cuts. Troopers also issued Mendez a summons for being an unlicensed operator. The summons is returnable before Peace Justice Herbert Poppel, Town of Wawarsing. Mendez told troopers he swerved his car to avoid hitting an animal on the highway.

A Catskill motorist was injured in a three-car chain reaction accident about 10:30 Friday night at Broadway and Van Deusen Street.

Police said that David Porter Jr., 53, of 101 Summit Avenue Catskill, reportedly suffered neck injury. They said that cars operated by Jeffrey A. Trest, 19, of 179 Hurley Avenue, and Porter, were stopped for a traffic light. They said that a third car driven by Itsvan Kazsek, 25, of 164 Fair Street, struck the Porter car in the rear, causing the Porter vehicle to strike the Trest car.

Patrolmen Otto Short and George Barringer investigated.

oxygen in the water thereby endangering the lives of an untol number of fish.

In a report to the commission, Wright acknowledged there would be considerable losses of shad fish in the next few weeks as the fish make their annual swim upstream into heavily acidized waters.

Can't Predict

He said it was impossible to make any reliable predictions on the future of the five-year Northeast drought. The commission's drought emergency proclaimed last July is still in effect. Wright said the commission would meet in Philadelphia May 25 to consider whether to continue the emergency.

"While we are in a better position than last year to mainpulate water in the basin to aid the trouble spots, we would like to caution again against over-optimism," he said, "and recommend continuous conservation measures."

The commission also turned its attention to the Delaware Water Gap National Recreation Area. Udall announced that the federal government would pay most of a $430,000 study aimed at preventing pollution in the park area now being developed along the upper Delaware River.

Water experts from New Jersey, Pennsylvania and New York, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and other federal agencies will be organized into three task groups — to project population and land use through the year 2,020; to determine the resulting water supply needs and to plan for waste disposal based on anticipated population and economic growth of the region.

The counties in the study are Orange in New York; Sussex and Warren in New Jersey; and Northhampton, Pike and Monroe in Pennsylvania.

Udall predicted the park would attract an estimated 11 million persons a year making it "the most visited" national recreation area in the East.

Also attending the meeting were New Jersey Gov. Richard J. Hughs, the outgoing chairman, Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania and Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York City, official advisor to Rockefeller on the commission.

trust that with the power of subpoena we can make up for any Senate oversights."

The Dodd suit also denies that the senator had ever improperly or unlawfully diverted campaign contributions to his own use. It said Dodd believes that his federal income tax returns fully reflected his taxable income.

Dodd reportedly received between $100,000 and $200,000 from testimonial dinners in 1961, 1963 and 1965 at which President Johnson and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey were the principal speakers.

Controversy has developed over whether these were campaign funds or tax-free gifts to help Dodd meet the extra expenses of public office. The Internal Revenue Service is investigating the matter, first brought to attention by Pearson and Anderson.

Score Postal Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien has told 650,000 postal employes he is not going to tolerate "shoddy postal service."

Experts reported after an exhaustive study of mail service that there is a definite need for improvement, O'Brien said. He added he wants "effective action now by all postal people to bring about a very substantial improvement in service."

"I have never been more serious," he said, adding that he promised Congress in testimony last month "to reduce to the absolute minimum the number of Americans who feel that their government has let them down through shoddy postal service."

Says Reds Oppose U.N.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department has blamed the Soviet Union, North Viet Nam and Red China for blocking a United Nations role in Viet Nam.

No Oil for Rhodesia

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ship owners using the American flag are being warned that the Johnson administration is not going to tolerate the shipment of oil for the rebel government of Rhodesia.

Business Week in Review

By SALLY RYAN
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market during the week took its biggest plunge since the day President John F. Kennedy was assassinated but later it regained some of its losses.

The drop came Thursday after General Motors announced it was cutting back auto production. But the next day, after GM said its auto assembly plants would be back in operation Monday, the market closed higher.

Sought Advice

President Johnson asked for advice during the week on how to prevent inflation — and received it from all sides.

The President said he saw disquieting signs in the economy. The nation faces new problems as an outgrowth of prosperity, he said.

The advice offered by William McChesney Martin Jr., Federal Reserve Board chairman, was "a simple, clean-cut, across-the-board increase in taxes." He said that was the logical way to deal with inflation.

It was Martin who a year ago said he saw disquieting similarities between the economic situation then and in 1929.

Differed Previously

It also was Martin who differed with the White House in December and voted to increase the Federal Reserve lending rate from 4 to 4½ per cent.

But during the week Martin said an indefinite escalation of interest rates could have undesirable effects on the economy.

Walter W. Heller, a former chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, called for a temporary across-the-board $5-billion tax increase. He also proposed temporary suspension of the 7 per cent tax credit allowed business on new investment.

"A tax increase now would be a good insurance agent against inflation," Heller said.

Delegates to the U.S. Chamber of Commerce convention in Washington were polled on what anti-inflation measures they thought would be the most effective now.

293 Vote Spending Cut

In all, 293 voted for reduced federal spending, 98 for further use of monetary powers to curb credit and money supply, 49 each for wage-price controls and moral suasion, 38 for reduced capital investment and 16 for increased federal taxes.

Gardner Ackley, the President's top economic adviser, said an increase in federal spending beyond that already budgeted would make an income tax "almost inescapable."

It is an election year, a time when tax increases are singularly unpopular with Congress, and the administration has been bringing pressure to bear on Congress to cut back its additions to the budget.

Ackley, Heller's successor as chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, cautioned businessmen that profits might be getting too high for the health of the economy.

Need to Clamp Down

The government would face the need to clamp down on overall demand in case a speculative boom resulted from higher costs and prices, he said.

The First National City Bank of New York reported that 1,399 leading corporations earned 12 per cent higher profits the first three months of 1966 than a year ago.

Altogether, 84 per cent of the companies showed improved earnings. A new wave of demand stemming from Viet Nam — on top of an already healthy business situation — helped lift about everything but the automobile and steel industries to higher levels.

Secretary of Commerce John T. Connor said he wanted to read facts, not tea leaves.

He said meat prices appear to have leveled off, that there was no evidence of scare buying, that consumer spending can't outstrip income increases for very long, and that the administration hopes defense spending will level off later this year.

No Drastic Measures

The current economic indicators don't call for drastic measures on an emergency basis right now, Connor said.

Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler said officials want to wait until they see the effects on the economy of the monetary and fiscal measures already taken.

"A tax increase could prove inappropriate later this year," Fowler said.

He said economic trends still weren't clear and there would be "some danger of 'overcure' " in deciding to raise taxes now.

Heller agreed that the full effects of the new tax bill, tighter money and $6 billion in new Social Security payroll taxes had not yet been felt.

Paychecks Hit

Only this week did paychecks reflect the increased withholding rates, shrinking take-home pay.

The National Association of Purchasing Agents, Inc., in its monthly survey, found members now expect the economic expansion rate to slow down the second half of this year.

Some bearish signs already are showing up.

General Motors Corp. cut back production at four of its 23 assembly plants during the week, following sales reports indicating less demand for all new cars.

New car sales in April were nearly 5 per cent lower than a year ago — the third time this year they had fallen below 1965 levels.

Steel production dropped again. This year 44,360,000 net tons have been produced, compared with 46,912,000 a year ago.

The stock market dropped to the lowest levels of the year Thursday in selling waves that developed after Ackleys comments and the General Motors cutback announcement. It was the biggest one-day drop since Nov. 22, 1963, the day President John F. Kennedy was assassinated.

Congregational Service Planned Around Families

The emphasis at morning service at First Congregational Church, Saugerties, Sunday will be on the strength of families. The traditional Mother's Day observance will give way to a program of greater significance by broadening the circle to include the entire family. Sermon topic Sunday will be, Stronger than the Distractors. Church School is scheduled at 10 a. m.

Youth Choir meets Tuesday at 7 p. m. and following this week's practice rehearsal, a special treat has been planned for all children and young people in the choir by Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Cole. A gift in the memory of Henry Plieger, of Revena, has brought the total amount in the choir robe fund to more than $80.

Announcement has also been Women's Fellowship, netted more than $100, and the organization has expressed its thanks to all those who participated in the project.

The second issue of The Message, new church newspaper edited by Mr. and Mrs. Charles McGinnis, was distributed last Sunday. Much church news and articles not printed in the regular bulletin were included. The editors now request new copy for the paper.

Men of the church have been meeting Wednesday evenings at the parsonage and have accomplished a great deal of work on apartments planned there. With much still to be done, it is hoped more volunteers will appear each Wednesday so the project may be completed in the not too distant future.

In a special program Sunday, members viewed a film on the life of Christ, based on a study of John. The next such meeting will be held June 5 and will be devoted to a study of the Book of Daniel.

The church also plans a thrift sale on May 19, 20 and 21 and urges all to help in any way possible on this important project.

Report Viet Cong Replacements Are Regular Forces

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Despite many successful efforts to interdict supplies, military authorities here see evidence that the combat strength of the Viet Cong force is becoming more and more that of a regular army. Once it consisted largely of poorly armed guerrillas.

This year 120mm mortars were added to the arsenal of insurgent regiments crisscrossing South Viet Nam. Military sources say these are of Soviet design but 95 per cent of them were made in Communist China.

Tells of Shortages

A U.S. spokesman spoke this week of a critical shortage of supplies among the insurgents, but this shortage was mainly in food, clothing and medical supplies in some areas.

The primary aim is to supply weapons to fighting units. The assumption is that they can survive by requisitioning and pillaging food in the countryside.

Authorities are aware of at least 80 Viet Cong base areas — centers of training, supplies and command posts. Although pounded by bombs and artillery shells, these bases continue to train and process recruits and carry on a large-scale war effort.

The military Viet Cong build-up, which has reached an estimated 107 combat battalions averaging 500 men each, is paralleled by an intricate political organization spread throughout Viet Nam.

Specially Designed Nursery In Home for Growing Family

By JACK McELENEY

If yours is a growing family, the new Associated Architects' plan, "The Denver," may be the home you have been looking for.

There are three bedrooms in this house, in order to accommodate today's larger families. Each of these rooms is large, and has the window area you would want for adequate natural light and ventilation. One of the bedrooms is particularly suitable as a nursery because it has a doorway to the kitchen as well as to the bedroom hall. Thus, mother can work in full confidence that she can reach the baby quickly if the need arises.

As an added feature, there is a lavatory equally accessible from the kitchen, side door, garage and basement door.

In all, "The Denver" occupies 36 by 50 feet of space, including the garage. For the sake of economy as well as appearance, the garage is attached, thus saving the cost of two extra walls.

The total living area comes to 1,150 feet, plus 225 square feet for the garage.

You can see from the artist's sketch that "The Denver" will make a lovely addition to any community. Certainly it is a home to be proud of, inside as well as out.

For example, the 13½ by 23½ foot living room, complete with fireplace and built-in bookshelves, is large enough to meet the recreational and entertainment needs of most families. For additional comfort, notice in the floor plan how a useful foyer has been created through use of a wall just inside the front door. This lends decorative appeal and also deflects drafts from the outside.

And if you decide to serve meals or just snacks, the kitchen is designed to make the work of preparation much more pleasant. Counters and appliances are laid out in the shape of the letter "L" just for the purpose of saving steps.

As I have said, this is one home that is planned especially for growing families and, because of that, is worth considering at length. You can obtain the full plans, with every detail given, at moderate cost, by sending along the accompanying coupon. Please be sure to note if you want the plans with or without basement.

By the way, the plans show how to use any of the three building materials—wood siding, brick veneer or concrete block.

From a technical point of view, you will find that "The Denver" conforms with the construction and building requirements if the Federal Housing Administration (FHA), and that electrical safety is built in because the wiring called for is to follow the National Electrical Code.

Colors Conflict

Highlight flower beds and climbers with screens and trellises stained a natural wood shade or allowed to weather to a soft silver. White paint is good, too, but color on garden structures conflicts with flower and foliage hues.

Razzle-Dazzle of Vaudeville Doesn't Come Easy on Hollywood Palace

By DON ROYAL

NEW YORK—The Hollywood Palace is perhaps the hottest vaudeville show in America today. The program, which started out on about as iffy a basis as you can get in the perpetually uncertain business of television, established itself as a hit in a relatively short time.

The addition of color this season has enhanced the show greatly. Now, both within show business and to the public, the Hollywood Palace has the same stature that its Broadway namesake, the famed Palace Theater, had in vaudeville's heyday.

Since advent of the series the variety field has become a lively corpse, indeed.

In the past two seasons executive producer Nick Vanoff and producer William O. Harbach have turned out close to 80 shows, using on the average of 8 acts on each.

IN ORDER to satisfy this enormous demand, much of the talent has to be imported from Europe, where vaudeville and circuses are still popular. This has resulted in experiences few television producers can claim or would want to.

Vanoff recalls, "We hired a disappearing act from France named Van Steckel. He actually did disappear and didn't show up for the performance. When he finally did show a week later, he gave no explanation."

The circumstances under which the Hollywood Palace started can't exactly be described as auspicious. ABC-TV found itself with a gaping void in a prime-time Saturday night period.

Vanoff and Harbach had just three weeks to get the Palace going. While it was not said explicitly, it was understood that they would have just about three weeks to make the show prove itself.

WELL, THEY DID IT. Three weeks before the premiere program saw Vanoff, Harbach and the staff they had assembled virtually overnight working 18 and 20 hours a day, seven days a week. New television programs usually have the luxury of months of preparation to cope with the thousands of details.

Happily, Vanoff and Harbach had worked together before, on the Steve Allen Show, a number of Bing Crosby specials and the Perry Como Show.

Offhand, it may seem the easiest thing in the television world is to produce a vaudeville show Hire an m.c.; hire some well-known acts; hire an orchestra; set your technical and stage crews; design a basic set —and you're in business.

There's only one joker.

It doesn't work that way.

"Bing Crosby was responsible in great measure for our early success," says Vanoff. 'Our initial problem was to get major stars to be our hosts. With Bing initiating the series, doors were immediately open to us."

'However, dealing with major stars presents its own problems," says Bill Harbach. "Productions often have to be planned to accommodate the moods and peculiarities of some stars. Frank Sinatra, for instance, works best with a minimum of rehearsals. Consequently, we rehearse his supporting acts ahead of time."

Vanoff tells of the time they booked a leopard act that works uncaged. "We had to put our cameramen in cages so they could get close to the action," he recalls. "We had to tape the act separately, because we couldn't have a live audience. We peopled the seats with dummies to avoid insurance problems.

"When you scout acts in Europe, every agent tells you he has an exclusive on every act there. Then when an agent sees you're interested in an act he actually doesn't represent, he'll whisper snide remarks to you confidentially. They make the Hollywood brand of agent seem shy by comparison."

HARBACH TELLS, too, about the time they booked performing bears. "We were taping them in the morning because we couldn't have a live audience. No matter how hard the trainer tried, the bears wouldn't work. We later discovered it was the wrong time of day. They only worked in the evening.

"Then there were the Baranton Sisters, cute foot jugglers, whose equipment was misrouted to San Francisco."

The most hair-raising experience was with a fellow whose balancing act consisted of holding a dagger perpendicularly in his mouth, a sharp sword point-to-point with the dagger while he walked up a 20-foot ladder.

He demanded to be paid before the performance. Vanoff quickly wrote out a check and sent it down to him. When he saw the check he exploded, screaming that he wanted cash.

Knife in hand, he chased the executive who had brought down the check to a dressing room. He didn't calm down until he finally was given cash.

Vanoff says that in Europe many acts have been stuck with rubber checks, and have grown to distrust any form of payment but cash.

High-wire acts insist on setting up their own rigging and will stay up all night adjusting it. "I don't blame them," says Harbach. 'Look at what happened to the Wallendas just before they appeared on our show." He refers to a tragic accident in which one member of the family was killed and another crippled for life.

THEN THERE WAS Tarzan and his lions, Harbach reminisces, "a French troupe which showed up a week early. We had a difficult time finding a place to board the animals. They spent two days at the ABC-TV center, but were asked to leave because the lions' roar bothered the secretaries."

The difference between the human eye and the ponderous television camera presents technical challenges. When you sit in a theater your eyes automatically follow the acts as they move about stage.

Were the television camera to move with equal speed, the picture on your screen would be a succession of jumps, out-of-focus shots and other distressing phenomena guaranteed to induce throbbing eyeballs. Result: every act must rehearse and rehearse and rehearse so that the director can present a smoothly flowing sequence.

Costumes which look fine in a theater often look fine in a the camera, or they may be so loaded with rhinestones or sequins that light flashes would bedazzle viewers. Almost every act to appear on Hollywood Palace, therefore — except for major headliners — has to be recostumed.

AND FINALLY, there are intangibles. A performer's regular night club or theater act may run anywhere from 15 minutes to half an hour, or longer. The producers must analyze each act, select its high points and, by diplomacy, cajolery and finesse get the performers to agree to cut.

These are not the only areas requiring production savvy and know-how. Having assembled a given program, it must be decided how the "bridges" from act to act are to be handled by the host, and the show's writers, Joe Bigelow and Jay Burton, must be instructed accordingly.

Think that's all? There are other touches of which the general viewing audience is usually not aware.

Most vaudeville acts have musical arrangements for six, eight or even a dozen musicians. The producers must work with the Palace conductor, Mitchell Ayres, enhancing the arrangements for the 40-piece orchestra.

Making a show appear as though it is happening at that very moment takes a great deal of care and planning. "Simplicity is very difficult to achieve, especially in a medium as complicated as television," concludes Vanoff.

IN THE GRAND TRADITION OF VAUDEVILLE—The elephant and the beauty. Diane Olsen is the beauty, Bertha is the elephant, and trainer is C. J. Mathson. Animal acts are prime fare on ABC's ever-popular Hollywood Palace.

House Cleaning Time

Carol Burnett tells a beautiful story about the time she and her husband, Joe Hamilton, moved to California more or less by mistake.

"We put all our furniture in storage until we could find a place in Los Angeles and tell the movers where to send our things. A big goodbye party was thrown for us. We had 23 pieces of luggage for the plane trip — 428 pounds overweight — Joe, the baby, the nurse and me. We got out to California and Joe got a call telling him he was going to produce the Sammy Davis Jr. Show from New York. So I called the movers long distance and told them to get a pencil and I would tell them where to send our furniture. I gave the man our old address in New York (fortunately we had a year to go on our lease and had decided not to sublet) and he thought I was kidding. When I finally convinced him we wanted the furniture returned, he asked me why and I said, 'Oh once a year we like to give our place a good cleaning and airing out.'"

Questions & Answers

A FREE MAN — When Branded goes off the air will viewers be informed about whether or not Jason McCord was really at the battle of Bitter Creek?—C. T., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

The NBC-TV series has already presented its final new episode and is now in summer re-runs. McCord was never reinstated in the Army but flashbacks in earlier episodes revealed that he was at Bitter Creek where he was a hero and not a coward.

IN ON THE SECRET—How does Batman's butler know that Bruce Wayne and Dick Grayson are the Caped Crusaders? — E. L., Greenville, N. C.

It has never been explained. The series' writers figured that somebody had to be in the 'know" so that somebody could be at Wayne Manor to answer the Batphone.

FATHER AND SON ACT — I read where Sidney Chaplin had died. Is this true? — Neil Yard, East Peoria, Ill.

No. The actor is in London performing in a movie, "The Countess From Hong Kong," which his father Charlie Chaplin is directing. The film stars Marlon Brando and Sophia Loren.

Andy Takes Tumble

It finally happened to Andy Williams. He does so much running around on his NBC-TV show, on runways and up and down stairs, that people have been wondering when he would tumble. He did while taping the show on which the Beach Boys were guests. While dashing up some stairs to meet them, he missed his footing and bruised his shin. But it happened off camera and didn't interfere with the show.

TV Scout Reports

There was a funny mistake in a recent issue of a magazine devoted to broadcast advertising. It was in a discussion of pilots for next season, and the lack of excitement about them, and it mentioned that favorable comments had been heard about only three, Run Buddy Run, Them Monroes and That Girl Hawk.

What's so funny is this: That Girl is one series (starring Marlo Thomas) and Hawk is another (starring Burt Reynolds)

Madison Avenue wags are calling the reshuffling of autumn schedules at ABC "Operation Quicksilver."

A 1955 television series called Science Fiction Theater has every reason to feel like Cinderella.

Despite the fact that color was nowhere in those days, the series was filmed in color. It is now enjoying its greatest popularity and has been sold in 45 markets in the past 14 months.

It was an Ivan Tors Production, and it's to the Flipper-Daktari producer's credit that he had the foresight to film in color.

Just in case you have been wondering about that nameless disease Ben Gazzara is supposed to have as Paul Bryan on Run For Your Life, those around the set figure it is leukemia,

Ed Platt, who plays the harried Chief on Get Smart, played nothing but villains before the series. Recently he was up for a villainous role in a movie but was turned down because he was "a comedian."

Rufe Davis who plays Fred Smoot on CBS-TV's Petticoat Junction knows it is not polite to point, but there was a time in his life when it was a case of "point or starve."

He was on a personal appearance in Japan, in an area where very little English was spoken. He went to one restaurant where he couldn't speak to the waiter, or read the menu. But the restaurant's window featured molded, colored replicas of the food they served.

"So when I got hungry, I would go in the restaurant, drag a waiter to the sidewalk and stand him in front of the dish I was pointing to."

Burt Ward, a total unknown until he was cast as Robin in Batman, told TV Scout that he has had three offers to star in feature films recently. But the part he would most like to play is Tom Swift. A friend of Burt is going to produce a movie based on the deeds of the children's hero, so maybe he has a chance of getting the role.

Danny Kaye is such a big baseball fan that, when he had to go to London last fall during the World Series, he left his watch set to California time. As the plane approached the English coast, he looked at his watch and nudged a seat mate. "Let's stand up," he said. "They are playing the Star Spangled Banner now."

Judy Lewis, who commutes from her Connecticut home to New York for her role in The Secret Storm, says the hour's drive from her home to the studio gives her time to adjust from being a wife and mother to being an actress. Then the drive home helps her reverse that process.

Hughes Almost Killed in 'Copter

By BILL BYERS

NEW YORK—It wasn't until the other day that John Hughes, an ABC-TV director who recently returned from Viet Nam, discovered that he was almost killed this past winter.

While looking at the film footage of a documentary, I Am A Soldier, in his screening room, it suddenly occurred to him that the Viet Cong were constantly taking pot shots at him while he canvassed an area outside Saigon in a helicopter.

"On the film it looks as if I'm having a helluva good time, laughing and talking with the pilot as if we were on a lark," said Hughes. "But when the sound track was added it was quite apparent that the strange noises I kept hearing were bullets. The Viet Cong were trying to spray our helicopter and we were never aware of it."

The incident, added the director, still tanned after three months in the field with the troops, is typical of the strange war being fought in Southeast Asia.

Hughes' personal record of the war, which concentrates on Capt. Ted Danielsen and his company of 60 men of the First Cavalry Division, will be shown over ABC-TV in color Sunday, May 8. The special is part of Saga of Western Man series co-produced by John H. Secondari and his wife, Helen Jean Rogers.

During the time the director and his camera crew spent with the combat-ready First Cavalry, 14 GIs in the battalion were killed and more than 40 were wounded.

Nevertheless, the ABC-TV camera crew was considered "good luck" by the soldiers, who figured it was impossible that anybody could get killed while cameras were grinding. According to Hughes, the boys were right in their belief. None of the casualties was suffered while he and his crew were in the field with the troops.

"But we did have several close calls, like the helicopter incident. It's all vividly real," said Hughes. "It may be too real for some people to stomach."

The director added that he thought the network's scheduling of the program for May 8 was a bad idea.

Why?

"Because that's Mother's Day. And a lot of mothers aren't going to like what they see," he said.

Farentino Seen All-American Boy

HOLLYWOOD—They wanted to change James Farentino's name.

The Italian name, they said, didn't fit the handsome young face. The "image" would be that of an Italian or a Latin.

But the magnetic young actor from Brooklyn said "No." He liked his name.

"And I was right about it, too," he tells you with the confidence so plain in his acting performances. "I've played only one Latin — a Mexican bandit on Laredo."

As Hap, the son of Lee J. Cobb in the two hour CBS-TV presentation Death of a Salesman, on Sunday evening May 8. James Farentino comes across as an all-American boy.

Working for a month (rehearsals and taping) with Cobb and Mildred Dunnock, who are playing the roles they created on the stage 14 years ago, has been the most exciting experience in Farentino's nine-year acting career, which has not been dull. He worked with Bette Davis in the play "Night of the Iguana," co-starred with Jack Klugman in Naked City and guest starred on two segments of the Alfred Hitchcock TV series.

"Just watching Cobb work is amazing," he says. "He has time for everything and everything he does is full and true. Most important of all he made me realize I was right in the way I think about acting."

The way Farentino thinks about acting does not leave him perturbed, as some Hollywoodites are, about the British domination in acting these days. He explains:

"I think they are better trained than American actors. They grow up in the repertory theater. They deserve to win acting awards because of their sheer brilliance at acting."

Brilliance is also Farentino's goal and he has crammed hours of study into his short career. He studied at the American Academy of Dramatic Art and also in private lessons with Philip Burton and Lee Strasberg.

"I still feel I'm just beginning. I'm still working to improve my technique and broaden my talent."

There's "method" in his acting, he admits, because of his studies with Strasberg. But he says: "I think the method really means that it gives the actor the knowledge of what to do when he's in a bind with a role, to apply the rules to suit himself."

Lucy Cooperative

Add producers Alan Handley and Bob Wynn to the long list of Lucille Ball fans. They are going to produce two specials starring her this spring and summer, to be aired next season on CBS. And Handley said of her willingness to try any kind of wild stunt, "There's nothing she won't do."

AUNTIE From UNCLE

Angela Lansbury, who appeared on The Man From U.N.C.L.E. earlier this season, and who will soon open on Broadway in the musical "Mame," told TV Scout that she thinks there should be a series called The A.U.N.T.I.E. From U.N.C.L.E.

STATION BREAK

"Hey baby, ya wanna see a good movie on me tonight? And I mean ON me! I'm an ELECTRIC eel!"

FARENTINO AND OTHERS IN 'SALESMAN'

Ask TV Scout

Mia Farrow is getting very restless in her role of Allison Mackenzie on Peyton Place. According to reports from Hollywood, they are trying to figure out a plot twist that will take her out of action.

Rosemary Prinz, who has so many fans as the heroine of As The World Turns, is making a character switch when she plays the brash role of Olga in a revival of "The Women," which may just be brought back to Broadway.

Marshall Thompson, of Daktari, gets a chuckle out of some of the stage directions given to the animals in Daktari. One read: "Closeup of elephant's eye. A tear forms and she blinks."

Thompson says, "The animals are pretty smart as actors, but they are not that smart. I suspect the writers are trying to see how far they can go."

Peter Falk's first television appearance since his Trials of O'Brien went down the drain, will be in "Dear Deductible," a segment of Bob Hope Presents. Janet Leigh will be Falk's costar.

Long Title

A film made by Aluminum Company of America for showing to prospective clients, has a title that by today's standards qualifies it for a feature film or a Broadway hit. It's called "How To Make a Buck Even Though 114 Competitors Are Trying To Cut Your Heart Out and Serve It On a Silver Platter at 30 Per Cent Off."

Questions & Answers

LITTLE JOE'S MOM—Who is Michael Landon's mother? — N. E. C., Canaan, Conn.

The young actor, who plays Little Joe on Bonanza, is the son of musical-comedy star Peggy O'Neill and Eli M. Orowitz. On the NBC-TV western series, his mom was played by Felicia Farr in a flashback episode.

EARLY SWIMMING — Is Voyage to the Bottom of the Sea returning next season? Why have they started the re-runs so early — Kathy McClure, Ft. Wayne, Ind.

The ABC-TV series, with new episodes, will be back in the fall. Re-runs began March 27 after 26 episodes were presented during the 1965-66 season. Many series, and especially costly ones like Voyage, only present 26 episodes each season.

FIGHTING AGENTS—Is it true that Robert Vaughn and David McCallum don't get along? — G. R., Jackson, Mich.

The agents of The Man From U.N.C.L.E. are friendly enough to work together 12 hours a day, six days a week. In their free time, Vaughn and McCallum go their separate ways mainly because they have other interests.

INTERRUPTED HONEYMOON — Why did they take the daytime soap opera, The Young Marrieds, off the air in the middle of the series and put The Nurses on instead? It sure is disgusting—E. L. T., Frederic, Wis.

ABC-TV felt The Nurses, which has been on nearly a year, would have a longer marriage with its audiences in the new time slot.

Monocle Buster

Werner Klemperer, who wears a monocle as Col. Klink on Hogan's Heroes, breaks them at the rate of one a month. Seems Werner is inclined to relax the facial muscles that hold the monocles in place, and kerplunk. The series' prop man, Ted Mossman, who keeps a large supply on hand for Werner to break, says, "What you really need to be an expert monocle-wearer is a good, tight, built-in squint."

Actor at 21

Albert Dekker, who is in Death of a Salesman set for CBS-TV on May 8, got his first acting jobs when he was 21. "I played, in consecutive order, a Chinese of 40, a Persian of 50, a Chinese of 60 and an Italian priest of 80," he told TV Scout.
